Wilson Says:

Missile Drive Set Off

Army, Air Force Both To Seek Weapon

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said Wednesday that both the Army and Air Force will go ahead on an all-out basis in a drive to develop rocket missiles that will strike targets at distances of about 1,500 miles.

Wilson told a news conference: "we are going to organize this thing, and use all the talent we have in the Defense Department, and all we can get from outside . . . I think a little competition will be healthy."

The secretary's statement confirmed information given International News Service last week that he had rejected a two-to-one recommendation by the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the so-called "medium range" missile be assigned exclusively to the Air Force.

Wilson was asked to define a "medium range" missile and to say what decisions had been reached concerning its construction.

1,500 Range

In view of the fact that intercontinental missiles are expected to travel 5,000 miles or more, he said he thought a "medium" missile would have a range of around 1,500 miles.

He continued: "It is pretty well decided what we are going to do. We are going to organize all the talent in the Defense Department, and outside, to push the thing. A little competition might be helpful."

Wilson refused to say definitely that both the Army and Air Force could build the "medium" missiles, but later said he had found it desirable in such cases to have more than one line of development.

'Redstone'

"I want to let both rocket developments proceed, and let the machines themselves answer the questions of how they should be used," he said.

The decision means that the Army can continue to improve its 60-foot long "Redstone" rocket, which already has been fired distances close to 500 miles, and can build similar rockets traveling more than 1,500 miles. "Medium range" is generally considered to include distances above 750 and below 2,500 miles.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff vote was reportedly taken two weeks ago, with the Navy siding with the Air Force against permitting the Army such a long-range program.

Sec. Wilson Unruffled By Big 4 Failure

West Accuses Molotov Of Bad Faith

GENEVA (AP) — Russia and the Western Powers Wednesday night broke up the Big Four conference in confessed failure to secure the peace of Europe, unify Germany, or expand East-West relations.

The three Western foreign ministers bitterly accused Russia's V. M. Molotov of bad faith in all his major proposals during the three-week conference.

Molotov, in his concluding speech, claimed that only the Soviet Union had maintained the "Geneva spirit" which marked the summit conference here four months ago.

In a separate declaration directed to Germans on both sides of the Iron Curtain, the U.S., French and British ministers said their governments would "not cease their efforts to end the injustice and wrong now being done by dividing the German people."

No Plan To Meet Again

All four ministers agreed on only one thing—no commitment to meet again.

The final conference communique said they would "report the result of their discussions to their respective heads of government and recommend that the future course of the discussions of the foreign ministers should be settled through diplomatic channels."

In 21 days, the conference scored a series of massive failures.

Contrary to the directive from the heads of government at the summit meeting last July, the ministers contributed nothing to "the relaxation of international tension and the consolidation of confidence between states." Instead, their prolonged psychological warfare here created new distrust.

Harder Freeze

They froze harder the division of Germany between Western and Eastern blocs, with Russia no longer even paying lip service to the principle of free elections to unite 70 million Germans.

They torpedoed four plans from the summit for making a quick practical start on disarmament. These were President Eisenhower's reciprocal aerial inspection, Premier Bulganin's ground control posts at key centers, Prime Minister Eden's East-West demilitarized buffer zone, and Premier Faure's coordinated military budget cuts. Not even an American offer to extend aerial inspection to some 50 nations tempted Russia to accept the Eisenhower plan.

Temporary Fiasco

They turned the development of East-West contacts into a temporary fiasco. The West would not discuss giving up its strategic goods embargo. Russia would not open up a single chink in the Iron Curtain for Western ideas.

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles accused Russia of repudiating free German elections because it feared not only that the Communist East zone regime would be swept away but that all other satellite peoples would demand their freedom.

"Conditions in Eastern Europe may be such," he said, "that the Soviet Union feels it cannot now agree to free elections in any area it controls, because that would have a contagious effect."

The American said Premier Bulganin sent Molotov to Geneva "apparently under orders not to discuss seriously the matter of German reunification," despite agreement to the contrary four months ago "at the highest level and under the most solemn circumstances."

U.S. Expected To Review Plans For Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration leaders voiced clashing opinions Wednesday on whether failure of the Big Four conference at Geneva means a stepping-up of the cold war between the Communists and the Free World.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said "one could not draw the conclusion" that the stalemate reached by the foreign ministers in Geneva will result in "an intensification of the cold war."

Another high policy maker, however, asserted "the cold war is back" and the administration is consequently reviewing its spending plans.

Ready For Changes

This official, who would not permit the use of his name, reported "the administration is re-examining its program and is prepared to make any changes that are necessary."

Wilson took a somewhat brighter view and did not write off the chances of some progress being made by the foreign ministers in the future. The diplomats broke up their Swiss meeting in a gloomy atmosphere today.

Wilson told a news conference the results at Geneva will have "little or no effect" on the American defense program.

Ups And Downs

He said the basic plan is to maintain strength into the indefinite future and to insulate the program from international "ups and downs and temporary pessimism and optimism."

But the other official said:

1. Cuts in spending for foreign military and economic aid, pegged at $3,900,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30, are "not now contemplated."

2. Budget balancing aims of the Eisenhower administration will be subordinated to the "necessities" of the developing international situation.

Nobel Physicist Condemns Loyalty Policies As Damaging To Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Arthur H. Compton, physicist and Nobel prize winner, Wednesday condemned some of the governments loyalty procedures as "damaging to the true security of the nation."

He also told a Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee that American scientific progress has been impeded by the way in which the State Department has handled the passport applications of scientists who want to travel abroad.

The Senate group is engaged in a three-week study of personal liberty in the United States. It has begun with an examination of passport procedures, recently challenged in several court cases.

Condemned

Compton, an atom bomb pioneer and now distinguished service professor of natural philosophy at Washington University, St. Louis, condemned the method of screening scientists for security and the "publicized investigations of loyalty as they have been conducted during recent years."

He said he wanted to make these four points:

1. The screening program is interfering seriously with American participation in international scientific conferences.

2. "Indiscriminate questioning" of the loyalty of America scientists is damaging the effectiveness of scientists.

3. Both the screening and questioning are resulting in ignorance concerning matters vital to the national welfare.

4. Science must be open in order to be strong.

Growth Important

From the point of view of true national security, Compton told the senators, survival of the American way of life depends most importantly on whether the country can grow in strength more rapidly than its rivals.

Before hearing Compton, the subcommittee for the second time interrogated Scott McLeod, the State Department's security chief, about passport policy.

McLeod did not argue against a conclusion by Chairman Hennings (D-Mo) that Dr. Linus C. Pauling, professor of chemistry at the California Institute of Technology, had to win a Nobel prize last year before he could get a passport.

When Hennings asked whether Pauling's receiving "a very high, coveted" award had caused the passport office to reverse itself in his case, McLeod replied:

"I think that is a fair statement for you to make. I hope you don't ask me to agree with you. I just don't know."

Thief Takes $585 From County On Student Government Day

Lincoln Star Special

LOUP CITY, Neb. — Thieves took advantage of the high school County Government Day to take $585 from the county clerk's office here.

Sherman County Sheriff Earl Hancock said that while about 100 high school students from all over the county were at the courthouse for the day, a thief or thieves took advantage of the confusion and took the money, receipts from sale of hunting licenses.

"None of the students is implicated," Hancock stated.

He said the money was apparently taken during the noon hour. The thieves must have been inside the office, one of four connecting, when the county clerk locked up at noon, he explained.

The burglar opened an unlocked vault and found the key to a steel cabinet where the hunting money was locked, he continued.

Hancock said investigation showed that attempts also had been made to open safes in the county treasurer and county judge offices. He said the combinations on the safes had been tampered with.

Investigation has not revealed any indications of who took the money, he said.

He added that this is the first robbery or robbery attempt there "for a long time."

Man Stabbed At Harbine

Lincoln Star Special

HARBINE, Neb. — A 36-year-old Rock Island railroad track crewman, identified by hospital attendants as John Naylor, was taken to a Beatrice hospital Wednesday after being involved in a stabbing here.

Hospital attendants said the man suffered a severe stab wound in the left chest and cuts about the head. They said Naylor was in serious condition.

He was a member of a railroad track gang working in the Harbine area.

Jefferson County Sheriff Deyo Hughes, who investigated the stabbing, wasn't available for comment, but Deputy Sheriff Frank Knoche reported Naylor had been injured during what he called a drunken brawl in or near the "gandy" cars parked on the Harbine rail siding.

Knoche said no arrests had been made.

Cold Nears End; More Snow On Way

Frigid temperatures over the state were to subside somewhat over Nebraska by Thursday.

But more snow was forecast, to spread over most of the west and south-central part of Nebraska by Friday morning.

Imperial, where the temperature was 12 below, was the cold spot of the state early Wednesday.

Imperial, along with the Lincoln Airport, also had the highest temperature of the reporting Weather Bureau stations—a meager 25 degrees.

Only Lincoln and Omaha stayed above the zero mark as temperatures dipped to -1 at Grand Island and Norfolk, -4 at Sidney, -5 at North Platte and Scottsbluff and -7 at Chadron.

But Wednesday night was to find lowest temperatures near zero in the east and around 5 above in the west, with highs Thursday in the 20s northeast to near 30 in the southwest.

The State Highway Department said the snowfall earlier in the week left roads generally in good condition, with a few slippery spots.

Angry Psychiatric Patient Slays Frisco Physician

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A young resident physician was shot and killed at the University of California clinic Wednesday by a psychiatric outpatient bearing a grudge against doctors for diagnosing him as "nuts."

Shouting "No! No!," Dr. George P. Guild, 31, a widower and father of two children, slumped to the floor of the clinic's screening room as the berserk gunman pumped three bullets into him for no apparent cause.

Seized by state police who guard the sprawling University hospital on San Francisco's Parnassus Heights, the suspected killer was identifeid as Rudolph Isaacson, 41, a former inmate of California's Agnew Hospital for the mentally ill.

Isaacson was hurried to the city's Park Police Station where he complained, in almost incoherent ungrammatical language, about treatment he had received at the university clinic.

"I've got two contaminable diseases and they say I'm nuts," he grumbled.

4 Or 5 Shots

He apparently meant to claim he had contagious ailments.

He said he believed he fired four or five shots from a .22 nickel-plated, nine-shot revolver. Dr. Gild was struck in the head, face and shoulder.

Police quoted Isaacson as saying:

"I went up to the doctor and asked him for some pills . . . I said, 'how long are these lies going to go on?"

"Then I pulled out the gun and shot him. He said, 'No! No!, and fell. Then I walked up to the (hospital) desk and told them to call the police."

'Long Story'

He refused to answer further questions about why he shot the physician, saying:

"It's a long story. I won't say anything until I see my attorney."

Leon Kellogg, outpatient superintendent at the University Hospital, said Isaacson had been in the clinic last week for psychiatric treatment, and came in again Wednesday to complain that he had not been helped by medicine given him.

Man Charged In Blue River Dead Fish Case

Lincoln Star Special

WILBER, Neb. — William F. Rapp Jr., an employe of the State Health Department has been charged with a misdemeanor in the case of the dead fish found in the Blue River early in the fall, Saline County Attorney Alan Steinacher said Wedneday.

Rapp is charged in District Court at Wilber with "placing, running and draining matter harmful to fish into the Big Blue River." The complaint charges Rapp as an individual.

The complaint sets out that the river had been stocked with fish by the State Game Commission, and that the harmful matter was the chemicals strobane and dieldran.

The chemicals were plaeed in tanks at the Crete sewage disposal and from there entered the water. The complaint alleges that the offense occurred on Aug. 31.

Steinacher reported that filing of the complaint was delayed while a Lincoln firm did chemical tests which have only recently been completed.

Arraignment of Rapp is tentatively set for next Monday.

Nebraska Farm Bureau Supports Flexible Props

. . . 'Zero' Wheat Quota OKd If Needed

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation stood firm in its continued support of the flexible price support principle for basic farm products and moved even farther toward austerity in its recommendations to cope with national crop surpluses.

Upwards of 700 delegates, acting Wednesday, setting policy at the Bureau's 1955 convention, tightened up their support of 75 to 90 per cent of parity with an additional resolution calling for abandonment of permissive planting of 15 acres of wheat now provided under wheat marketing quotas provisionally.

The resolution recommended cutting wheat acreages to zero if such austerity were required to reduce national grain surpluses. It passed with few dissenting votes.

The Bureau completed its treatment of quotas, supports and grain production with strong support for a soil bank plan and a program for expansion of domestic and foreign markets by advertising, and improvement of product quality.

Although the resolutions were moved to the bottom of the day's list in the prospect of spirited debate there was not much of a division of minds when actual consideration was undertaken.

Plan Tightened

The soil bank plan was tightened up by a floor amendment to require soil improvement resulting from federal "out-of-production" leasing be protected on the long range by requirements that in the after-lease period the land would have to be cared for according to accepted rules of conservation and land management.

Killed was an amendment to the resolution continuing support for cross-compliance which would have added a provision liberating the Commodity Credit Corporation to lend corn to farmers on a two-year basis, repayable in money or kind during grain shortages due to natural causes.

The amendment was aimed at relieving such shortage as occurred last summer in feed grains when drought took its toll of growing corn.

Policy Definition

The bureau took a major step in the field of water resources, calling for definition of Nebraska policy on the use and sovereignty of underground water.

Seeking clarification comparable to that accorded by the Nebraska constitution on surface water, the convention asserted that water underlying land is supplemental to agriculture and subject to the prior right of domestic use.

It declared that water falling on the land should belong to the land as long as it is contained within the boundaries of the real estate. It asserted, also, that as between users the principle of prior appropriation should apply.

Vice President Re-Elected

Prior to the resolutions session Roland Nelson, Mead, was re-elected state vice president and four directors were named to the state board. They were; Albert Benson, Blair; Clarence Boesiger, Cortland; Robert Cole, Plattsmouth, and Dempsey McNeil, Holdrege.

Included in the Bureau's recommendation for stepping up foreign trade were:

(1) Reduction of trade barriers.

(2) Expansion of funds available under law permitting sale of U.S. Goods in exchange for native currency of other nations.

(3) Attention to quality of exports.

(4) Stockpiling strategic foreign raw materials in exchange for U. S. farm products.

(5) Extension of the reciprocal trade agreement.

The Bureau favored exemption of tax fuels usd for farm products. It urged caution by the federal government in opening large reclamation areas as long as food surpluses exist. It proposed that milling quality be used as a basis for government loans on wheat. It opposed federal highway expansion from other financing than its present gas tax without increase.

Gambling Opposed

Bureau delegates tabled resolutions calling for extending the present cattle brand area to include the entire state and requiring produce houses to buy eggs on a graded basis. But the convention called for a legislative outlawing of all gambling in the state.

The Bureau asked that criminal sex offenders be segregated in state penal institutions and denied parole consideration until a fitness clearance by three psychiatrists.

Delegates asked that the Sherman anti-trust act be applied to labor.

Ask Public Votes

In its treatment of state matters the Bureau asked:

(1) That votes in committee by state legislators be made public.

(2) That constitutional changes should remove the restriction that state officials salaries can be changed only at 8-year intervals.

(3; That the tax base be broadened to include sales or income taxes as a replacement for the state property levy.

The Bureau endorsed the construction of the proposed 230,000-volt transmission line from Fort Randall, South Dakota, to Grand Island.

Adlai Will File In Minnesota; Grabs The Initiative

Stevenson Feels Health Not An Issue

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson seized the initiative in Democratic presidential nomination strategy Wednesday by announcing he will enter the March 20 primary in Minnesota.

Stevenson, who won the 1952 nomination without making an active bid, said he will enter the March 20 Minnesota primary at the invitation of the Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor party.

Stevenson, the first of his party to make such a move on the political chessboard, took the position that health should not be an issue in competition for the presidency but he added:

"It would be foolish to say that people don't take into account the survival of a candidate in office or his fitness to perform the office.

Hopes For Total Cure

"I should certainly never make health an issue myself. I should hope earnestly that such limitations as health may have imposed could be remedied by total cure."

He said he has not yet made up his mind about getting into other primaries than that in Minnesota.

Sens. Kefauver and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York—who, with Stevenson, are the most-mentioned possibilities for the Democratic nomination—will be in Chicago for the round of party meetings that will get under way full-scale Thursday.

Sen. Kefauver is expected to announce his 1956 plans next month.

Stevenson said a recent checkup showed he was "in better than norma condition" for a man of 55.

He also formally named James A. Finnegan of Philadelphia as his pre-convention campaign manager and Hyman B. Raskin of Chicago as deputy with the title of executive director.

"Not For Exercise"

Asked if he could defeat any Republican candidate, he responded:

"I'm not entering this campaign for the exercise."

International News Service reported that Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler said that "human nature" would make health an important issue in the race.

He added that he is convinced, however, that Eisenhower will not run again. He felt that "any" Democratic candidate could defeat Richard M. Nixon, if Nixon wins the GOP nomination. But he felt it was "imprudent" to comment on how the chosen Democrat would fare against Chief Justice Earl Warren or other possible nominees.

Morocco Cheers Returning Sultan

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef returned to Morocco Wednesday from two years exile and tens of thousands of Moslems screamed out their happiness.

Sidi Mohammed

He flew from an icy cold military airport near Paris into the bright North African sun of Rabat. His frenzied welcome was in dramatic contrast with the grim hour of Aug. 20, 1953, when tanks surrounded his palace and French officials rushed him into exile for being too nationalistic.

Nationalists, conservatives and even Frenchmen lined up behind him Wednesday at least temporarily. To the Moroccans his return foreshadowed greater independence from France.

In a brief speech on arrival at the old pirate port of Sale, near Rabat, the 41 - year - old sultan thanked his jubilant people for their "faithfulness" and reminded them that he, too, had been faithful.

Britain Regards Israel Snub As Unrealistic Stand

LONDON (INS)—Israel's refusal to compromise "an inch" of territory to achieve peace in the Holy Land was regarded by Britain Wednesday as somewhat unrealistic in the face of dangerous events in the Middle East.

A Foreign Office spokesman commented on Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion's blunt statement to parliament Tuesday in which he rejected British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's mediation offer.

The spokesman said that the London government "regrets that the Israeli government is not prepared to approach the question in an atmosphere of compromise which is necessary if a solution to this dangerous problem is to be achieved."

London was nettled but not surprised by Ben-Gurion's strong statement. Earlier private advices had stressed the rigidity of Israeli policy toward Egypt.

Government row quarters said they were disappointed that the Premier used such uncompromising language and in Ben-Gurion's charge that Britain is trying to dismember Israel — a statement that was strongly denied.

Four Feedlots Inspected By Gage Feeders

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb. — About 200 farmers took part Wednesday in the Gage County Livestock Feeders Association annual fall feedlot tour. Beginning at 9 a.m. at the Norman Machow farm near Diller, the caravan stopped at three other farms in Gage County during the morning.

At the Malchow farm, the group saw feedlot treatment of 60 Hereford breeding cows and 65 calves, and were told that about 165 hogs are raised annually.

The trench silo method of storing and curing was stressed at the Ray Thomsen farm near Diller where a herd of 81 calves to winter and 54 yearling heifers were viewed.

At the Callan Brothers farm, the entourage viewed 125 Angus cows, 60 calves and breeding bulls which will be wintered on alfalfa and sorgo silage. K. C. Fouts, University of Nebraska animal husbandman stressed the importance of a balanced winter feed.

The last stop before lunching at the Wymore Lion's Club Hall was at the Stanley and Ross Hays farms west of Blue Springs. The group viewed especially fat cows which were also good nurse cows, among the Hereford herd and learned that breeding and culling the animals resulted in building up a herd of breed cows with these qualities.

At Wymore, the group spent the afternoon in a panel discussion on "Meat for Tomorrow" with Kenneth Reed of Beatrice as moderator. Members of the panel were Bob Roode, Charles Tremain, Phil Anderson, Clair Callan, H. G. Goyer, and K. C. Fouts.

Conducting the tour were Gage County Agent Robin A. Spence; assistant County Agent Harold Van DeRiet, Lyman Bartlett, president of the Gage County Livestock Feeders Association, and Jess Mason, secretary of the club.

The event was topped off with a banquet at the Beatruce City auditorium at 7 p.m.

Frightened?

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A noted Chicago psychologist, worried about the upbringing of future generations, believes that Americans are a "generation of frightened people." Dr. Rudolf Dreikurs, a professor at the Chicago Medical School, said in Los Angeles: "As we emerge from a fear-ridden autocratic society, we are still too fearful to respond to the freedom and demands of a democratic society."

Canada TV Fans Protest Bob Hope Royalty Remarks

OTTAWA (INS) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. said it had "many protests" from Canadian television viewers over joking remarks made by Bob Hope on his show about the Princess Margaret-Peter Townsend affair.

(The text of Hope's remarks about the Princess and Townsend, as released by NBC, follows: "I'm going to England soon. It will be nice to see London again, Buckingham Palace, the guards out front and Margaret's handkerchiefs drying out the window."

("Yes, sir," Hope continued, "Princess Margaret gave it the man she loved and I don't see how she could do anything else. She knew I was tied up. No, I do sympathize with Captain Townsend. I know what he was up against. For years I tried to play the palace. And I admire Peter's nerve. Imagine trying to sell royalty the Townsend plan again after it flopped once.

("This is the biggest crises England's had since Anthony Eden sat on a wet tea-bag. Now that it's over, the Democrats are saying, why don't they give our Margaret a crack at it.")

Premature Wedding

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brooks were enroute home in a taxicab after their wedding when Brooks started explaining the duties of a good wife. They included early rising to get breakfast, Brooks said, and an argument followed. When they arrived home, Mrs. Brooks stayed in the cab and rode out of his life, Brooks told the court. The judge granted an annulment.

Scotch Problem

LONDON (INS)—Scotch whiskey distillers are seriously worried about Britain's recent long, dry summer. An official of the Scotch Whiskey Association said that seven years from now there will probably be a shortage of good Scotch because the dry weather has caused a drying up of the Speyside burns (brooks).

Demo Seeks Ag Legislation Early, Without Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Ellender (D-La) of the Senate Agriculture Committee said Wednesday he wants to push new farm legislation through Congress early next year without any regard to politics.

Ellender told reporters he hopes to have an acceptable bill out of his committee some time in January.

"The farmers are in trouble," he said, "and if we can put through a good farm bill early in the year we can save many of them."

Ellender's committee is nearing the close of several weeks of grass roots hearings on farm problems. It has finished work in the West and South. He leaves Thursday to wind up hearings in New England.

Girl Found Guilty Of Manslaughter In Baby's Death

ROCKFORD, Ill. (INS) — Miss Helen Joan Ryan, pretty 27-year-old registered nurse, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in the death of the self-delivered child she bore July 30 and buried in a flower bed.

The auburn-hair defendant sobbed quietly as the verdict was read by court clerk Paul Wilson and then was led away to jail by a matron.

The charge of involuntary manslaughter carries a penalty of 1 to 14 years imprisonment. With the exception of an acquittal, it was the least of the penalties possible for the jury of seven women and five men, who deliberated five hours.

Defense attorney Max Weston said an appeal is "definitely under consideration."

A technical motion for a new trial will be heard Nov. 25 by Judge William R. Dusher. If the motion is denied, sentencing will follow.

THEORETICAL A-ATTACK ON U.S. TAKES HEAVY TOLL

FT. POLK, La. (AP) — Maneuver officials said Wednesday that "heavy" damage was done in all-out atomic attack with theoretical atomic bombs aimed by aggressor planes at 18 U. S. airfields and a radar site in the opening hours of Exercise Sagebrush.

In a briefing Wednesday summing up the situation since the start of hostilities early Tuesday night, officials said a total of 25 strikes by jet bombers was started out by the "enemy" but not all reached their targets scattered through 10 states ranging from Florida through Louisiana and north to Virginia.

Gen. Otto P. Weyland, maneuver director said the results "emphasize the tremendous advantage that accrues to the aggressor which takes the initiative and has the advantage of surprise" with the new atomic weapons.

U. S. forces retaliated against the enemy air attack by unleashing five atomic guided missile attacks on aggressor bases using the Air Force Matador System. For maneuver purposes actual missiles are in the launching ramps but jet planes fly the path the missile would take under radar guidance control. Briefing officers said Wednesday the results of the guided missile counter attack had not been assessed by maneuver umpires.

Army. Lt. Gen. John H. Collier, deputy maneuver director said the aggressor blitz blow Tuesday was "beautifully coordinated" between the enemy's air and ground forces. Neither side made a move prematurely to tip off U. S. forces that the blow was coming.

Curtis To Seek Designation For Fort Atkinson

WASHINGTON (AP) —Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) plans to revive an effort to get national historical designation for the site of old Fort Atkinson, about 15 miles north of Omaha, an aid said.

The fort, the aid said, is believed to have been the first federal outpost in the Louisana Territory after its purchase from France. The fort quartered about 1,200 men from 1819 to 1829, he said, and served as the site of the first meeting of the Lewis and Clarke expedition held with Indians in the territory.

He said the 44-acre tract now is commemorated only by a stone marker erected by some local group.

Western Big 3 Pledges Effort To Unify Germany

GENEVA (INS)—The Big Three Western foreign ministers Wednesday pledged their unceasing efforts to unify Germany.

In a separate statement issued after the close of the Big Four conference, the United States, Britain and France blamed failure of the talks on Russia, even though Premier Nikolai Bulganin last July had agreed to unification through free elections.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay said they were aware failure of the conference "must bring a sense of cruel disappointment to the German people East and West of the zonal border which now unjustly divided them.

The Western ministers sent a message to the mayor of West Berlin reafirming their "abiding interest of their governments in the security and welfare of Berlin."

In effect, this was a warning to the Soviets not to unleash East German Reds against free Berlin.

The three Western ministers charged that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M .Molotov had made counter-proposals on Germany and European security which would have involved the continued division of Germany as well as the eventual elimination of the Western Germany security system.

THIS LITTLE GIRL—moving from the shadow to the light—stands for the almost five million retarded children and adults who are today reaching new levels of understanding through the help of others.

This help begins, of course, with the love and understanding and patience of family and friends. But it comes, as well, from those more remote from the problem—people who realize that with continued study and support here is yet another dark frontier which can be made to yield to human concern.

You can take part in this mission by giving. What you give goes to support research that is opening new windows to the minds of these children . . . to aid in the development of training programs, special schools and other community services . . . to assist the many who cannot afford the terrible burden in cost of training and rehabilitation. The retarded need no longer be "America's forgotten children." With help, in many cases, they can become largely independent and productive; in others, their dependence can be greatly reduced. In nearly every case, some improvement can be made.

And looking immediately ahead—your contribution can help work toward the prevention of this handicap in babies yet unborn.

Is there a warmer satisfaction within the human heart than the sense of helping where help can mean so much? And is so deeply needed? Give as generously as you can, won't you?

Give thanks by giving to help retarded children.

An OPPORTUNITY and a RESPONSIBILITY

Consumers Public Power District, along with the whole state, rejoiced in the recent announcement that Nebraska was one step—and a large one—nearer to building a nuclear power plant.

Investigation and study by the Division of Nebraska Resources, the University of Nebraska and Consumers' staff over the past few years have revealed that the advantages to Nebraska of a nuclear power plant are multiple. These advantages lie not only in providing for the generation of electricity with a new "fuel" that experts agree will replace conventional fuels in the years ahead, but in developing and fostering an entirely new industrial and agricultural economy for our state, built around the use of the nuclear by-products.

Coupled with the joy came the sobering thought that the real work is just starting. The negotiation of contracts, the solution of problems with answers unknown as of today, and the training of employees in new tasks, are all ahead. When they are successfully completed, Nebraska will have nuclear power, a milestone in the world's progress.

The entire Consumers organization is determined to successfully complete its part of the task without delay.

This new booklet "Nuclear Power—Bringing a New Era to Nebraska" explains how a nuclear power plant operates, and how it may effect the economy of our state.

Judge Rules Krenk Will Not Valid, Says Probate 'Obtained By Fraud'

By VIRGIL FALLON
Star Staff Writer

The will of the late Joseph F. Krenk of Lincoln admitted for probate in Lancaster District Court two years ago has been declared invalid and the order of probate entered has been ruled as "obtained by a fraud upon this court."

Judge Herbert A. Ronin's ruling Wednesday was based on a petition by the widow of Mr. Krenk stating that a will admitted for probate on Nov. 27, 1953, was not the true will.

The court now holds the first page of that will as admitted is invalid and that another first page —recently disclosed to the court— constitutes the true and valid last will and testament.

The Krenk will, filed on Oct. 22, 1953, includes the signature of Thomas H. Adams as a witness. It was admitted for probate Nov. 27, 1953.

Adams is a Lincoln attorney and a state legislator.

The other witness to the will was Glendora Heuser, Adams' former office secretary, now of Kansas City, Mo.

Series of Events

This is the series of events leading up to the decision of Judge Ronin on Wednesday, according to court records.

Mr. Krenk, a Lincoln resident, died Sept. 3, 1953.

On Oct. 22, 1953, a petition was filed in County Court for the probate of the two-page will attached.

On Nov. 27, 1953, the purported will of Krenk was admitted to probate by order of the court.

On the second page of the will appeared the signatures of Krenk as testator and of Adams and his secretary, Glendora Heuser, as witnesses.

There were no signatures on the first page of the instrument.

Widow's Petition

On Aug. 11, 1955, a petition was filed in County Court by the widow of the deceased man claiming the will admitted to probate was not valid and requesting an order to set it's first page aside in favor of another "first page" whose existence was disclosed to the court.

Under the terms of the unsigned first page of the will originally filed, Krenk's widow was to receive the entire estate after claims were paid except for bequests of $530.

These specific bequests were $500 to a son, Ernest, and $10 each to three other sons, Joe R., Edwin, and William.

Life Interest

The provisions of the second "first page" produced were the same except that the widow was to receive only a life interest in the estate with the remainder going to the son, Ernest, at the time of her death.

Krenk's will noted holdings of a Lincoln residential property and to 60 acres of Butler County farmland.

The second "first page" produced had the signatures of Krenk as testator and of Admas and his secretary as witnesses.

Pages Missing

The attestation clause on the second page of the will originally filed in court states that ". . . at his (Krenk's) request and in his presence and in the presence of each other, signed our names hereto and to each page thereof as attesting witnesses . . ."

All three original pages were in evidence in the court hearing last Nov. 1, but photostatic copies had to be substituted when the hearing was resumed on Nov. 8.

Judge Ronin said the original pages disappeared from the courtroom almost immediately after the first hearing. They have not been recovered.

AF Plans New Flying Tiger Unit

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine (AP)—The famed "Flying Tigers" of the air are being revived.

The 23rd Fighter Group of the U S Air Force will be reactivated at the Presque Isle Air Force Base Saturday Some of the fighter jets will display for the first time since the early campaigns of the Chinese - Japanese war the renowned bloody mouth, razor sharp teeth and eye of the tiger shark.

Lt. Col. Frank J. Keller, base commander, will dedicate the rebirth of the modern-day offspring of the Flying Tigers of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

The Flying Tigers date back to a group of American volunteers — former civilian airline and military pilots who banded to help the Chinese. They called themselves "The American Volunteer Group."

Their strength was less than 100 and most of the time they had no more than 60 planes. Despite this, the unit destroyed 287 Japanese planes and disabled others, while losing only 23 planes and 12 U. S. pilots.

Asylum Granted

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Colombia has granted diplomatic asylum to Jeronimo Remorino, former foreign minister of Argentina. Remorino, one-time ambassador to Washington, resigned as minister shortly before the overthrow of the Peron regime. He now is in refuge in the Colombian Embassy in Buenos Aires.

'No One'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS)—Former President Harry S. Truman said no one speaks for him on his choice of candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Commenting on a published report that he is for Adlai E. Stevenson, Truman said the article is "not based on fact." He added:

"No one speaks for me on my choice of candidates—or my opinion concerning any one of them. When I have anything to say, I will say so openly as I have in Boston, Chicago and New Orleans . No one, I reiterate, speaks for me."

Search Opened Over Nation For Vanished Boy, 3

MINEOLA, N. Y. (INS)—A nationwide search was instituted Wednesday for Stephen Damman, 3-year-old son of a Mitchel Field airman who vanished mysteriously from in front of a Long Island supermarket on Oct. 31. Nassau County police sent "missing" circulars to 4,300 police departments throughout the U. S.

Simultaneously, the American Legion post at East Meadow, L. I., where the family of Airman 1. c Jerry L Damman lives, contributed $500 to start a reward fund for information that would lead to the child being returned to his home. Damman's home is in Newton, Ia.

The police circulars include a picture of the missing boy, a detailed description and a frief summary of the circumstances surrounding his disappearance.

Exporting The Surplus

No one would criticize the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, meeting in Lincoln, for endorsing an 'aggressive program' to promote the sale of agricultural products abroad.

Increased exports of surplus farm commodities are greatly to be desired.

Perhaps the most practical recommendation made by the Farm Bureau is the suggestion that Uncle Sam adopt a program of stockpiling strategic foreign raw materials in return for American surplus farm products. Trade between countries gets down to the business of exchange of goods or services. It so happens that some of the nations most urgently in need of food, particularly in areas of the Far East, have strategic materials for which there is a great need in this country and which as a matter of security should be accumulated by stockpiling.

But at the same time it will be well if the American people recognize that throughout the world, and particularly in the case of Europe, food supplies are returning more nearly to normal. Some of these countries are producing more food than they did even before the second world war, and all of them have reached the point where production is at least as great as it was at any time prior to the outbreak of the second world war. In view of greatly increased production abroad, especially in some of those areas where the need for food is greatest, a stepped-up program of export, attractive as it appears to be, ignores the facts of life.

Treating The Wrong Patient

It has been several weeks since Agriculture Secretary Benson announced an emergency $85 million pork purchase program to bolster the sagging pork market. At that time hogs were selling on the hoof at 15 cents a pound or a little less—a dangerously low figure for the health of the pork producing industry.

It is interesting to note that this week the Nebraska hog market hovered around 12 cents a pound. At Saint Paul, Minnesota, it dropped to 11 cents. It is also worthy of note that heavy selling of hogs is continuing.

One is prompted to ask, where are the effects of Mr. Benson's emergency action? The hog inventory is shrinking under heavy selling at depressed prices. In due time it will not make much difference what the market rises to in terms of today's investment in hogs because the later will have moved out of the producer's hands whose loss will be irrecoverable.

An answer is that the Benson emergency program is setting forth to purchase processed pork. If it is doing anything it is bolstering the market for the packer, not the farmer.

It is a curious commentary on Washington thinking today that price supports are proper for almost anyone except the farmer and remedies for the general farm program are being compounded to relieve someone else. Perhaps that is why so little headway is being made to restore agricultural health.

Nebraska's School Crusade

In Nebraska's crusade for updating and expanding educational facilities on the grade and high school levels this present November is destined to be remembered as a month of significant decisions.

It will not mark the metes and bounds of building expansion. But with its unusual production of nine referendum elections in eight communities, proposing an aggregate building bond issue of $36,345,000 in a cross section of Nebraska from small urban to metropolitan, it will shed light both on how well education has told the story of its needs and how fully Nebraska taxpayers have felt able to respond.

How goes the score?

In Omaha where $29 million of the aggregate of $36,345,000 has been proposed the first returns are encouraging to education. Tuesday the voters there approved the first proposal, one of $7 million for Omaha's West Side. Still to be decided is a second $22 million proposal to be voted on Nov. 22.

Outstate the crusade has felt losses. Three cities voted building expansion. An equal number rejected it. Columbus, Nov. 8, said 'yes' to a $1,500,000 building program. This week Falls City and Minden okayed bond issues of $525,000 and $600,000 respectively. But early in November, Kearney said 'no' to a $2,200,000 building program while Holdrege rejected an $800,000 proposal. This week Hyannis rejected a $270,000 program.

At the mid-month mark, outstate communities looked at a gross objective of $5,895,000 and shouldered $2,625,000 of it—something less than half.

Later this month Ord will bring in a verdict on a $420,000 proposal while in December Nebraska City will do the same with a $970,000 program. Results there can greatly alter the outstate picture which at this stage must be described as conservative.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

"So much for the dream of 'free exchange of information.' So much for the idea of freedom itself. Communists despise it and Mr. Molotov, after weeks of uncomfortable smiling, now can say so openly. There was even a helping of grim humor in Mr. Molotov's diatribe. Freedom is a dreadful thing, said he, because it lets in spies, saboteurs and other 'dregs' of humanity. Freedom does just that, to be sure, and if Mr. M. cared to cite an example, he could have used free America and free Berlin, where Red spies have wormed their way into the highest echelons of government . . . Mr. Molotov's frontal attack on freedom has some transcendent virtue. It is completely honest. The Reds do hate freedom . . . They are heart and soul against the idea of having any traffic in ideas with the outside world."—Extract from an editorial in an Omaha newspaper.

The Geneva conference of foreign ministers was closing up shop with failure the result on every issue before it. It is a rather bleak prelude for a holiday season which comes to a climax with the plea for peace on earth, good will toward men. Arguing persuasively to lighten the impact of failure, John Foster Dulles said he had attended too many conferences to become discouraged because this one at Geneva between the Big Four foreign ministers had found it impossible to reach agreement on a program of disarmament, a plan to eliminate East-West barriers to trade, travel, and uncensored information. Persistence is a very necessary, vital quality in the world of diplomacy. Secretary Dulles has been persistent if unsuccessful in his efforts to convince the Russians that now is the time to bring about better understanding between the free and the Communist worlds. Clearly Mr. Dulles has been unrealistic. All of us were too willing to accept the Top Summit discussions at Geneva in July at full face value, with the result that the disillusionment provided by Molotov is that much more painful.

There Is No Sunlight

★

And yet only we lose when we give ourselves over completely to cynicism. Moscow at this time wants nothing to do with the free world. The small circle of men in the Kremlin who shape the destinies of the Russian people nurse a hatred for the free mind and the free world of which the free mind is the symbol, no less than Lenin and Stalin. We are still faced with an unregenerate Communist regime, it seems.

★

Geneva's failure, we take it, means that the propaganda war in which there had been a very brief respite must get under way once again. More important, Geneva's failure means that we must abandon for the time being at least the hope of averting a continuing crushingly burdensome armament race. But it will not always be night. If the cause of peace has suffered a setback at the time when the hopes for peace were highest, the fact remains that only the atmosphere which permits a free mind will satisfy the hunger of the world's masses. Always human flesh has sought freedom, and although the road may be long, the ultimate answer to man's struggle for freedom of his mind and his spirit invariably has been on the side of freedom. Outwardly, at least, the spirit of Geneva is dead, if it ever did have any genuine foundation.

In Practical Terms

Dead though it be at this time, there will not always be night in this weary world seeking so intensely to discover the formula whereby the peoples of many languages and many ideas can live in peace with each other.

No Sauce For Gander

If anyone has been figuring on retaining Alexander V. Vlasov, Russia's erstwhile No. 1 architect, he should be informed that Alexander has been summarily fired, or in the language of Kruschev and Bulganin, he has been reduced to the role of "common citizen builder."

During the past decade Vlasov planned several of Moscow's skyscrapers, adorning them with the kind of cheesecake that especially appealed to the late Josef Stalin, hence his high position. But tastes changed with the rise of Kruschev and Bulganin who decided Vlascov was aping the West, especially Frank Lloyd Wright, the American. That fixed him.

Indeed Vlasov did admire Wright and made a point of visiting with him lately when the Russian builders delegation toured the U.S.. The interesting thing is that Wright doesn't like cheesecake any more than Kruschev and Bulganin, so, K and B actually followed the Western line when they fired Vlasov because they thought he admired it too much. Not much can be made of such conflicts of ideas except that no one believes that Bulganin and Kruschev will demote themselves for the same ideological error. That part of Russia we can understand.

The Joyita Case

The sea has many mysteries and the latest one came when the waterlogged hulk of the 70 ton cabin cruiser Joyita was found adrift off Pago Pago. There was not a soul on board and there is no trace of its crew.

One is reminded of the celebrated Mary Celeste sailing a staggering course with full sail far out at sea with no one aboard. That was in 1871. There was no sign that there had been violence on the ship. Everything was snug. There just wasn't any crew. No one knows for certain yet what happened although speculation still recurs.

Perhaps the strange case of the Joyita will linger on as did that of the Mary Celeste. But probably not. This is not 1871. The sea is not as mysterious as it then was. Its fearsome stories no longer grip the imagination with full intensity. There is so much more now that is more fearful. If the Joyita case is not solved with reasonable dispatch it is more apt to pass out of mind and into oblivion.

Artful Morse Turns Tables

WASHINGTON — The manure spreader has become the symbol in the Oregon political campaign, which already has started in the fight over re-election of Sen. Wayne Morse, Democrat.

The other day, Morse arrived at Myrtle Point, Ore., to speak before the Rotary club of which he was once state president. Outside the hotel stood a brand new red manure spreader, flaunting a sign: "Welcome Wayne Morris."

It had been placed there by his GOP critics, many of them bitter because he left the Republican party.

Whether they agree with Morse or not, his colleagues in the Senate have always found him one of the most resourceful men on Capitol Hill. He immediately went up to the manure spreader, called to some of the officers of Rotary, and had his picture taken with them and the manure spreader.

Later, called upon to speak, the senator said:

"I realize that that manure spreader was placed outside to embarrass me. They even misspelled the name to try to embarrass me. But that manure spreader is a symbol—not of embarrassment to me but of farm prosperity. It's a symbol my old Republican friends have forgotten. It used to hold pay dirt for the farmer. But that spreader outside had no pay dirt in it.

"That's what I want to talk about today," Morse continued, "the relation between farm income and your cash register."

He launched into a powerful diagnosis of how the Eisenhower administration had let down the farmers.

After it was over, a Republican friend came up to him.

"Gee, Wayne," he said, "we never should have put that manure spreader out there. Without it you wouldn't have let loose on farm problems."

The question of segregation is troubling the CIO-AFL merger. Some AFL unions in the South are opposed to the broad CIO policy in regard to Negro membership . . . Congress may abolish tax stamps for tobacco and liquor, and levy direct excise taxes instead. This has been proposed in a confidential House Ways and Means staff study . . . Top government economists, including members of the Federal Reserve Board, will urge Congress to put installment credit under very strict federal control. Without control, they fear the nation's whopping $16,000,000,000 installment loans might get top-heavy and throw the nation into a business tailspin.

Adlai Aggressive; Team Is Mighty

CHICAGO — Adlai Stevenson is a new man. The Reluctant Dragon of 1952 who was heard to shout, "I'll shoot myself" when the bosses told him he must take the nomination, now enters the arena like a man spoiling for a fight.

His immediate brain trust is now composed of three of the smartest Democratic politicians in the land, Col. Jack Arvey of Chicago, Campaign Manager James Finnegan, Pennsylvania's secretary of state, and Mayor Dave Lawrence of Pittsburgh. All pros, and ready nine months before the big fight.

The men around him feel positive that if the convention were held tomorrow Stevenson would command at least 500 ballots the first time around. About 630 will be needed to win. The Democrats have a complicated system of awarding extra delegates to states which went Democratic in the previous election.

"We can count right now on all or most of New Jersey, Minnesota, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Maine, West Virginia, Tennessee — yes, Tennessee — and in fact all the South," a man close to the candidate said today. The speaker was one of the group which made up Stevenson's mind on just which primaries he would enter.

☆ ☆ ☆

The years have done nothing to blunt Stevenson's sense of the quip. Bill Lawrence approached him on his make-shift TV and newsreel set at the Conrad Hilton the other day after he had finished his third rendition of his formal announcement.

"Are you going to do it once more, this time for the newspapers?" Bill asked in a manner which somehow was both glacial and friendly.

Stevenson smiled sweetly. "Oh, is that all you want?" he asked. "I was afraid you were going to ask me to change the script to 'vice president.'"

Efforts to have a peaceful Democratic convention in Chicago next August will be made Thursday and Friday. The so-called "loyalty oath" continued to rear its head. Remember the long hassles over that one in '52? The late Blair Moody, former newsman and senator from Michigan, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Soapy Williams were the principals who sought to outlaw the remnants of the Dixiecrat group by making every delegation sign an oath promising to support the convention's choice and to see that his name and that of his running mate got on the ballots back home. Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana rebelled and filled the hall with some of the most colorful oratory of the convention. They succeeded in watering the Moody resolution into nothingness but apparently did not wholly destroy its roots. The question will be settled once and for all this week, the Democratic chieftains fervently hope. They want a "one big happy family" convention next summer as insurance that their candidate will win in November.

Stevenson Elects The Long Campaign

WASHINGTON — The formalities are over and the problems and perils of Adlai Stevenson, acknowledged candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, are now the news.

The circumstances are unusual. Rarely has a candidate so openly and unreservedly attempted to capture a presidential nomination so far in advance of the national convention. Stevenson has accepted the onus of the front runner; he becomes the focus of a remorseless spotlight and the target of other ambitious men in both parties.

He cannot afford to look back. Between now and next August he must hold what he has, and steadily improve his position.

He has no place to hide in case of embarrassing developments or the need for a breathing space. He is not a governor who can plead the press of state business nor a senator who can use important legislation as a ladder or an excuse. He is a private citizen in the business of gettting nominated and elected president.

In order to give him a jet takeoff, the Stevenson managers have committed large quantities of their high-test fuel, including the important states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Minnesota. Now they must build reserves for the crucial occasions that are bound to arise repeatedly in so extended a campaign.

☆ ☆ ☆

The next few months will be critical for Stevenson, perhaps definitive.

If he can achieve for his candidacy a steady sense of growth and inevitability during that period, others will be discouraged and the band wagon psychology will take hold within the party, and indeed, the nation. If he encounters a serious reverse or fails to put across his bill of goods, it will mean ground lost that perhaps cannot be recovered.

There is no one test for judging the curse of the Stevenson campaign. The primaries will be important. There will be polls of more or less significance. Editorial opinion on the validity of the Stevenson positions will count. The Democratic Congress can give him a bad time by its own behavior and reactions to him.

The Stevenson managers are fully aware of his problems. They believe that given his circumstances he had no alternative and no choice but to admit he was a candidate and then go out and fight for the nomination.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is already intense pressure on Stevenson to look for deals as with Sen. Kefauver or with the governor of a large pivotal state such as Lausche of Ohio. His orders are that this must not be done but he will never be able to control speculation nor the actions of all his supporters.

The Stevenson speeches were famous in the last presidential campaign and his managers are counting heavily on them again. What they seem not able to do is to persuade him of the merits inherent in an editorial blue pencil or even a paper shears. He is again trying to say too much in too short a space of time.

What they have overcome, they think, is any intimation that he is a reluctant dragon. It is one big advantage they see in his admittedly perilous position of front runner which must be so long maintained.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Cold-Weather Collie From Missou

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Waking up in a nice cool bed of snow isn't exactly a common thing to do in 11-degree weather.

But then, Mac, a five-year-old collie owned by Capt. Robert Robinson of 201 Prestwick Road, is not a common dog.

Neighbors take a second look when they arise in the bitter cold of the early morning to see Mac sitting, (leaning lazily) on the front door of the Robinson home, apparently sunning himself on the front stoop.

☆ ☆ ☆

The thickly furred collie refuses shelter out of the weather. Moving here from Texas and California, Mac's love of cold weather is difficult to understand. But he is also from Missouri—and has to be shown it's too cold for him outdoors. So far Mac has shown up the weatherman.

Despite this fortitude, Mac is what might be termed "chicken-hearted."

While at the captain's father's home Mac came across some chickens that had escaped from a penned enclosure.

Mac just nudged the wandering ones with his cold nose and herded them back into the pen.

(Star Staff Photo)

MARY PAT ROBINSON, MAC AND BOBBY
. . . he's always happy to assist in the meat-thawing

He didin't want the young chickens to get lost.

This talent Mac was never taught. The Robinsons were surprised to see how unusual their dog really is.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Robinsons believe that Mac has one weakness—T-Bone steaks. More than once Mrs. Robinson has taken steaks out of the food freezer and laid them out to thaw, only to discover that Mac had thawed them out first—in his stomach.

The big shaggy collie is a great protector of Bobby, 5½, Mary Pat, 3, Peter, 2, and Timothy, 6 months. The collie likes his family so much he will almost annoy the children by his eagerness to stay always at their side.

But sometimes it is Mac who needs the protection from four active children.

The People Speak

Wise Men And Fools

Anselmo, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I read other papers, but find The Star most liberal-minded, not narrow like some of the others. I enjoy the editorials, and columnists Drew Pearson, Mark Childs and Doris Fleeson; also the letter column. It is really a pleasure and an education.

I wrote a letter once about what a humble people we are here in Nebraska, never voting for our own interests, but helping others. Mr. George Marshall commended me for it. But I was not always a Democrat. I used to vote Republican, for Teddy Roosevelt, George W. Norris and any man I thought would try to serve all the people instead of the special interests. We must surely study all sides of any problem; there is so much misleading propaganda. Many such misleading statements and promises that won't be fulfilled are made merely to obtain public office. We common people must now judge by deeds and actions instead of words and promises.

We should not get in a rut and just stay there. Some people never want to change — it seems to jar them so. But we are told that wise people sometimes change their minds; a fool, never. It reminds me of the old story of the farmer who sent his grist to the mill by putting the grain in one end of the sack and a stone in the other, and hanging it over his horse's back. One day he was sending his son, but the boy took the stone out and divided the grain, putting half in each end. The father objected, saying: "Son, don't be trying to improve on the ways of your father. Just put that stone back in the sack."

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I wish to thank The Star for participation in our emergency food program, "Operation Can Opener." The success of the project was due to help we received from all concerned. We will have another program such as this next spring, so will welcome any suggestions and keep a record of them to assist us at that time.

Christmas Spirit

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I absolutely agree with William D. Cunningham about the Christmas spirit . . .

A CONSTANT READER

Bennet, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Have been wanting to thank you for keeping the funnies on an outside page. Certainly saves wear and tear on the paper—and the folks' tempers—when the school kids read the paper first.

I, too, wish they would not start with Christmas decorations and music until after Thanksgiving.

MRS. L. W.

Parole Violation

Hubbell, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Our governor in speaking about the large number of men who have violated their paroles from the penitentiary and reformatory made the statement that these men sign an agreement to stay away from beer taverns; also that is all they need to do to be honorable citizens.

If in order to be an honorable citizen, those on parole must stay away from beer taverns, what about the laws of our state that permit these taverns to operate and thus tempt men on parole? What about the folks who have never been in prison who frequent beer taverns? What about accidents on our highways that might have been avoided? What about our State Legislature when in 1953 the record shows that only four out of 43 (six not voting) voted against the beer industry? What about the majority of those who vote allowing these things to happen? What about the large per cent of our voters who do not appreciate their privilege enough to go to the polls and vote?

I ran across the following given as the words of Edmund Burke, an English statesman and author:

"The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."

M. W. SMITH

Food Stamp Issue

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A committee in Washington is advocating a government food stamp issue to get rid of some of the food surpluses, the stamps to go out to the needy and those on assistance to be included. That would seem to be a worthwhile act because many on assistance are short of the proper foods. The proposal is a good one.

B. S. KECK

A Bad Example

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Sunday article, "Why Jane Shouldn't Ride With Strangers," was very good and educational for both child and parent. We parents know that one cannot stress the point enough when it comes to "friendly" strangers. It is a constant worry to a parent when their children leave the house. All we can do is teach them the do's and don'ts and pray for the best.

But turning to the comics, what did I find? Just the opposite of the article. I am referring, of course, to a cartoon character who picked up with a kindly old Skid Row character whose face would scare any normal child. He butters her up with a little flattery, introduces himself, and offers her a meal. Being very hungry she grabs his arm and they head for the nearest restaurant with not one little "Arf" from Sandy.

What a terrible example that comic section was for little boys and girls!

MRS. WILLIAM KAISER

Hollow Victories

Upland, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Can hero worship bring oblivion? Or is there enough gray matter left that the majority will not be fooled all the time by campaign promises and constant claims for great achievements — peace, tax cuts, economy, etc. If Mr. Eisenhower is the only man who can save the world, heaven help us.

The only victory for us in the past eight or 10 years would have been Korea if we had named the terms. Mr. Truman told Stalin he would talk to him only when he came with clean hands. We released many thousands of prisoners there, acquired at great cost, with not the slightest assurance of the release or welfare of our own soldiers held prisoner. Then there was the bluffing game over Formosa and Indochina.

The first Geneva meeting was a love feast with the promise not to mention aggression for satellite slaves, the only subjects of vital interest to us. Mr. Dulles left Denver for the second Geneva meeting with head bowed low, a tired and worried man with instructions, no doubt, to make all concessions necessary to achieve another false victory for the magic wand artist. Russia wanted more than love and kisses, and as Doris Fleeson stated, they are giving no points either major or minor and the smile has been changed to a scowl.

The last promise made on election eve was: "And you farmers, I promise you 100 per cent parity —at the market place." I would like to ask Hruska and Curtis to explain what Mr. Eisenhower meant by that statement.

'PAPPY' KERL TO RETIRE FROM LINCOLN POLICE

Detective Paul "Pappy" Kerl, supervisor of Lincoln's pawn shops and pool halls, has announced his retirement from the Police Department effective Dec. 1.

Kerl

An officer on the force for 25 years, the 65-year-old "Pappy" will take over new duties keeping records in the Health, Safety, and Welfare Department in the City Hall.

On the Police Department, Kerl was the official one-man inspection team checking up on apartment houses, motels, hotels, pool rooms, bowling alleys, and automatic amusement devices.

He's had the detail of checking pawn shops and second hand stores in the city for the past six years.

100,000 Slips

During that time, Kerl notes, he's written up more than 100,000 check-in slips on items sold and bought in the shops during that time.

On leaving, Kerl says he's led a "routine" life on the department, although the going sometimes has been "rough"

Kerl was born at Pawnee City, Neb., in 1890 and before going on the department worked at selling insurance and in service stations. He served in the Army during World Warr II.

Director Emmett Junge of the Health, Safety, and Welfare Department says of Kerl. "He'll be a welcome addition to this staff with his experience and know-how."

Bellevue Blaze, Jewel Robbery Keep Officials Busy

Fire Damage Set At $100,000; $10,000 Loss In Store Theft

BELLEVUE, Neb. (AP) — Is there a link between the $100,000 Crawford Lumber Co. fire and the $10,000 Wilson Jewelry Store burglary Wednesday?

That was the question before Bellevue officials Wednesday night. The fire and burglary apparently were at the same time.

What the officials wanted to determine was whether the fire had been set in order to detract attention so that the jewelry store, across the street from the police station could be robbed in the confusion.

The lumber yard is across town from the jewelry store.

'Possibility of Arson'

"There is a strong possibility of arson. Either that or the burglars were opportunists and hit the jewelry store when everybody was at the fire on the other side of town," said Police Chief Ray Doty.

Firemen said the blaze seemed to have started in lumber piles at the north edge of the yard which was "boiling with flames" when they arrived. In addition to the lumber destroyed, four trucks were burned up.

The jewelry store was entered by smashing in the back door.

Said jeweler E. R. Wilson: "they knew what they were doing. They took nothing but the most expensive items." These included watches, diamond rings and other items.

Desk Sergeant L. M. Thompson said an officer who had gone by the lumber yard 10 minutes before the fire call came had seen nothing, but a woman who reported the fire minutes later said the building was "full of blaze."

8 Above At Time

Fire departments from Bellevue, Offutt Air Force Base and Papillion battled the flames. The Bellevue department's auxiliary mobilized to prepare hot food and coffee for the firemen, some of whom had to change icy clothing two or three times.

The temperature was 8 above zero at nearby Offutt Air Force Base.

Firemen managed to save a house just south of the lumber yard but the yard itself was completely destroyed.

Smith Denies Seeing Persons Arrested In Raid

OMAHA (AP)—Robert R. Smith, 54, of North Platte, Neb., denied on the witness stand Wednesday that he had ever seen any of four persons arrested by the police morals squad in an alleged $100 an hour call girl case.

Moral squad Sergeant Walter Wilson testified Smith accompanied the squad on a raid at a hotel and pointed out Mary Rae (Donna) Adams, 22, as his date.

Miss Adams admitted getting seven hundred dollars which she said she split with Mrs. Maisie Pilkins, 57, manager of the hotel and Otto H. Rose, 51. Wilson said Smith led officers to both Rose and Mrs. Pilkins. A man Miss Adams identified as her "boy friend" also was arrested.

Central Criminal Court Judge Patrick O'Connor dismissed the four defendants. He ordered their attorney to pay Smith's attorney $519 that police found on the defendant.

Farm Equipment Members Elect Garrett Budden

OMAHA (AP)—Garrett B. Budden of Venango, Neb., Wednesday was elected president of the Midwest Retail Farm Equipment Assn. that ended its three-day convention.

He succeeds Ralph K. Pease of Farragut, Iowa.

Leonard Glantz of Central City, Neb., was named vice president. New directors include Vincent Adams, West Point, Neb.; Ervin Jerman, Niobrara, Neb., and Arthur Richard, Wheatland, Wyo.

Managing Director Leroy F. Barry said the meeting drew 1,200.

An Oliver Corporation vice president and director, William Fisher, told the convention higher farm equipment sales this year indicate "the farmer is better off than we think he is."

The machinery manufacturing firm officer said "the farmer is really measuring up to the situation."

Farmers, said Fisher, have come to realize the value of efficiency and cost reduction in tackling their problems.

John Moser Named 'Mr. Woodman Of '54'

Scottsbluff's City Manager Resigns Post

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (AP) — City Manager T. E. Thompson resigned Wednesday, effective at a date to be set by the City Council.

The council, in special session, accepted the resignation but did not set an effective date.

Mayor Clark Williams said no immediate replacement was anticipated.

Thompson, 67, gave no reason for his resignation. Tuesday night, after he had resigned as president of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, Thompson said he was thinking of resigning the Scottsbluff post.

He did not disclose his plans.

Thompson has been here since May 15, 1949, when the city manager form of government was adopted. A 30-year veteran in city manager work, he moved to Scottsbluff from Norman, Okla.

Overheated Furnace Blamed For Death

OMAHA (INS) — An overheated furnace pipe was blamed for a fire Wednesday that took the life of a 10-year-old Omaha boy and caused serious injury to his 12-year-old brother.

John Macias was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital after being taken from the flaming basement of the family's three-room house (at 3329 South 2nd Street).

His brother, Genaro, was reported in "satisfactory" condition with first, second and third-degree burns of the face, chest, back and shoulders.

The boys' step-father, Sam Rocha, was alerted to the fire by an 11-month-old son who awakened him with his crying.

Seeing that the house was filled with smoke, Rocha rushed to the outside door of the basement and managed to rescue Genaro, who had been sleeping in the basement with his brother. John's body was recovered later by firemen.

The mother, Angeline, and three children sleeping upstairs got out safely.

1955 Good Year For Turkey Crop, Growers Reveal

HALSEY, Neb. (AP) — It's been a good turkey year.

The word is from the Schinn Turkey Ranch where around 115,000 poults are produced each spring.

Most of them are sold to other growers in neighboring states as one-day old turkeys.

Dick Schinn, owner-operator of the hatchery-ranch, said "this has been a dry year, the feed cheaper and the price of turkey up."

The dry weather cut the death loss.

The Schinns began butchering the 28,000 turkeys they fed this year in September.

The turkeys are hauled to the Nebraska Turkey Growers Assn. plant at Gibbon for killing and dressing.

School Bond Vote Set For Holdrege

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP)—The Holdrege Board of Education will hold another special election Dec. 13 on an $800,000 school bond issue for a new high school and conversion of the present junior high shool.

Holdrege voters Nov. 8 cast 847 votes for the issue and 758 against.

Nebraska News

But this was short of the required 883 votes, or 55 per cent majority.

Board members said they were confident the issue would pass in December, declaring many voters had changed their minds and would vote for the issue, believing delay would result in additional cost through higher interest rates and building costs.

Hunter Found Dead By River

BRIDGEPORT, Neb. — The body of a Bridgeport hunter, Rex Wilcox, was found Wednesday in the North Platte River just northwest of Bridgeport.

Law enforcement officers and firemen organized a search Tuesday night when Wilcox failed to return after going hunting by himself.

Morrill County sheriff's office was investigating the death but funeral director Robert Holochek said Wilcox, who was in his late 40s, apparently died of natural causes. He speculated the hunter might have suffered a heart attack or had fallen into the river.

Wilcox worked at the Sioux Ordnance Depot near Sidney.

Recommendation To Continue 1.1 Mill Building Levy Seen

The State Normal Board is expected to recommend to a legislative sub-committee Saturday that the 1.1 mill state building fund levy in effect since 1947 be re-enacted for another ten-year period.

Up to Nov. 1, the normal school's share of the revenue from the levy had amounted to $3,450,000, with another $800,000 expected before the present levy expires.

Out of the amount already received, the Normal Board has financed a new auditorium building at Chadron State College, a new heating plant and vocational arts building at Kearney State College, and a library, still under construction, at Wayne.

With the $800,000 yet to come, the Board plans a new field house or gymnasium for Wayne and Kearney.

Future construction plans, if the levy should be re-enacted, include a combined practical arts and music building at Peru, and a training school and field house at Chadron.

So far Peru has had no major new building from the institutional building fund.

The normal schools receive 15 per cent of the revenue from the one mill earmarked for educational and Board of Control institutions. The University of Nebraska receives 40 per cent and the Board of Control gets 45 per cent.

The revenue from the added one-tenth mill goes to the State Military Department for building National Guard armories.

The legislative committee which is looking into the need for continuing the building fund levy is headed by Sen. K. W. Peterson of Sargent.

State Office Social Security Wins Victory

The State Merit System office reported Wednesday that employes of the State Department of Public Instruction voted overwhelmingly in favor of going under federal Social Security.

Of 79 persons eligible to vote in the election, 77 voted "yes," one voted "no," and one person who was absent on account of illness did not vote.

The percentage in favor figures out 97.47, Director Dwight Williams said.

Faculties and employes of the four normal schools and of the state schools under the Board of Control also voted Tuesday. These results probably will be known Thursday.

Williams said the returns from the most distant of these institutions were on the way by mail.

The University of Nebraska, University of Omaha and Omaha Public schools voted previously, all heavily in favor of Social Security.

Fremont municipal employes, whose retirement system also was administered by the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds, also voted affirmatively.

Other public school teachers and employes in the state retirement system vote in December.

Hannah Larsen, 68, Dies; Was Active In Organizations

Born in Seward County, Miss Larsen had lived in Lincoln for 53 years, where she was active in civic affairs.

Among her many activities she was a member of the YWCA Board of Directors for six years, an active board member of the Lincoln Goodwill Industries for six years, and a member of the Southwest Community Center Board, of which she was serving as treasurer when she became ill. She was also volunteer worker for the Lincoln Fire Board for two years during World War II.

She served as secretary to the late Claude S. Wilson, atttorney, for 15 years.

She was a graduate of the Lincoln Business College.

Her memberships included First Christian Church, the YWCA, and Outlook Club.

Ex-Judge Pleads Guilty To N.Y. Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—A former Baltimore police magistrate climaxed a misspent life Wednesday by pleading guilty to murder—on the advice of his father and for the sake of his mother. They feared he would end up in the electric chair.

"I can't put my mother and father through this," Martin Yamin cried with tears streaming as he dramatically interrupted a week-old first degree murder trial to plead guilty to second degree murder.

First degree murder in New York is punishable by electrocution. Second degree carries 20 years to life in prison.

No date was set for sentencing.

Casket Factory

Yamin admitted taking part in the Feb. 15 slaying of Joseph Aronowitz, who was shot to death in front of a Brooklyn casket factory. Aronowitz was to have testified against Yamin and others in a Baltimore robbery attempt.

The actual killer of Arnowitz was August Robles, himself slain Feb. 20 in a Harlem gun battle with police.

During the trial, the state claimed Yamin promised Robles and his accomplices $5,000 to kill Aronowitz and that Yamin's father, Joseph, pledged the money with full knowledge of the scheme.

Yamin stood ashen faced and weeping in the courtroom for three minutes before he blurted out the guilty plea.

Lower

The 32-year-old master-mind in the Aronowitz slaying started out in life with every prospect of success. But his own misdeeds gradually drove him lower and lower toward a life of criminality and murder.

He was kicked out of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis for breaking the rules. Later he studied law at the University of Maryland.

For about two months in 1951, the dapper Yamin was a police magistrate in Baltimore. But he lost this job when it was learned he had been fined 11 times for traffic violations.

Somewhere along the way he was mixed up in a Baltimore insurance fraud racket. And later he was accused of taking part in the attempted robbery of a Baltimore numbers racketeer.

To Testify

It was the latter charge that led Yamin into murder — Aronowitz was slain because he was prepared to testify against Yamin.

Yamin's father, a retired Coast Guard lieutenant commander, came to court Wednesday with a note for his son. It read in part:

"For the sake of your mother, I want you to plead guilty to murder in the second degree, because I am convinced from newspaper stories and reports I've gotten that you face the electric chair."

For half an hour Yamin conferred with his father in the courtroom while the all-male jury was absent. Both men wept and frequently embraced each other.

2 Policemen Are Promoted To Lieutenant

The promotion of two police officers to rank of detective, one to lieutenant and another to sergeant was announced Wednesday by Chief Joseph T. Carroll.

The advancements take effect Monday.

Sgt. Melvin Dorn has been advanced from day street sergeant to lieutenant of traffic on the second shift.

Patrol officers Louis Greiner and John Olson both were promoted to rank of sergeants to serve on the 11:30 p.m. shift.

Patrolman Milburn Green, present radar officer during the day shift, was advanced to rank of sergeant and will be assigned to street duty on the 3:30 p.m. shift.

Lt. Victor Wright, at his request, has been transferred from the 3:30 p.m. shift as lieutenant in charge of traffic, to the 7:30 a.m. shift as a detective in the criminal division. He will replace Det. Paul Kerl, who is retiring.

Det. Clarence Schwarz has been transferred from the second shift to the first, replacing Det. Frank Robbins, who retired. Dets. George Hansen and Frank Bohlman, both now working on the 11:30 p.m. shift, have been moved up to the 3:30 p.m. shift in separate cars.

Sgt. R. J. McMeen, presently 3:30 p.m. street sergeant, has been moved up to the 7:30 a.m. shift as street sergeant replacing Sgt. Dorn.

Too Clean

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Post Office was in the strange position of being sued for stopping postal privileges because the material wasn't obscene enough.

The A.P.R. Industries, Inc., advertised its material as "the original old tyme action comic booklets—for men only." The Post Office Department stopped mail going to the company "because it promised, and did not deliver, obscenity."

Postal officials quoted a 1938 legal ruling holding that the "salacious-minded . . . as well as the innocent are entitled to the protection of the laws against fraud.

POSTCARD

His majesty, King Farouk, walked into Bulgari's jewelry store on the Via Condotti the other day. This news being reported by Mr. Irving Hoffman, the blade of Broadway, who advised me to dust over and see Miss Pat Rainey for further developments.

Miss Rainey was singing "Love for Sale" in the Kit Kat Club. She sang it as though love was going out of business and everybody should hurry.

"Would you mind telling me what the King does on the approaches?" I said. "Are you expecting any baubles from Bulgari's?"

"Well," said Miss Rainey, "that cat is very astute. He knows human nature like mad. His approach to a girl is individualistic. It depends on the person entirely."

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Rainey said the King came into the Kit Kat Club when she arrived a few weeks ago.

"I was only in town a day and for me Rome was from nowhere. I couldn't talk the language and was coming down with the flu. My back was toward the entrance and I didn't see him until a friend of mine took me over to be introduced.

"They just introduced me to the aide. So I just treated Farouk like somebody you hadn't been properly introduced to. You know, joe-blow-go-blow. I could see he was mad and pretty soon he stalked out.

"Next time he came in was Sunday. He sat there drinking orange juice—he doesn't drink, see? Well, I walked over and I said, 'Sire, do you remember me?' A friend of mine told me to call him sire," said Miss Rainey. "After all, in his country he could have thrown a bomb at you and only send apologies to your respective governments.

"So he said, 'I certainly do, Miss Rainey.'

"I said, 'That's funny because we weren't introduced properly.'

"He said, 'I know and you did the right thing.' "

☆ ☆ ☆

"This cat knocks you right down," said Miss Rainey. "He said, 'I saw you in Paris and I liked you better when you sang at Ray Robinson's Ringside. What's that rat nest on your head?'

"Well, I had my hair cut too short and was wearing a switch. It was a blow to my ego. 'Oh,' I said to myself, 'a real sparring partner.' He said, 'I don't like your shoes either. They don't become your feet.'

"I said, 'Listen, they're Rayne's shoes same as Queen Elizabeth's.'

" 'Well, I don't like them,' he said.

"OK If I have two egos, he's deflated both of them, see? So we had a drink and after all these left-hand remarks he asked me if I was feeling peckish. Did I want to eat?

"So I said no, I was keeping my figure. 'It's well worth keeping,' he said to me. 'How do you get your weight down?' I said, throwing him a curve. 'I'm always like this,' he said. Well, he's dropped a lot of weight. I said to him, 'Now, sire! Just a minute! I saw your picture before!'

'I could see he was highly flattered," said Miss Rainey.

☆ ☆ ☆

Miss Rainey showed me a cable from Jet, the Negro magazine, asking for her life story with Farouk.

"Did he make any mention of jewelry or mink coats or anything?" I said.

"Not directly. But it figures that a girl Farouk is interested in has got to do good. I didn't go out with him because that cat is always getting into hungs. He gets hung up in this and that mess and I didn't want to mess up my job.

"I saw him at another club later. He was with a blonde looked like a lady wrestler. I was with a couple of gentlemen from Egypt. Tobacco growers.

"The next time Farouk was in, he said, 'I see you been out with half of Egypt.' I said, 'Well, I thought I'd get the layout of the country.' He's got a great sense of humor.

"I always called him sir or sire and that completely disarmed him. At least I like to think so," said Miss Rainey. "After all maybe he never met an intelligent girl before."

HARTINGTON ASKS HWY. 12 MOVE STUDY

The Road Committee of the Hartington Chamber of Commerce has asked the State Highway Commission for a rehearing on the proposed relocation of State Route 12 between Crofton and Maskell.

The commission by a 3-2 vote recently recommended a rerouting of the road which Hartington interests had opposed on grounds it would give a direct connection to Yankton, S.D., for part of Hartington's northern trade territory.

Points listed by the Hartington group as worthy of consideration are the cost of the proposed new route; potential traffic volume; importance to existing business and agricultural interests; and the fact only five of the seven commissioners were present when the action was taken.

No. 12 now goes through both Fordyce and Wynot. The proposed relocation would cut due east from Crofton, passing north of Fordyce and south of Wynot.

Butler Believes Ike Will Not Seek A Second Term

. . . Demos Gather In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Paul Butler, the Democratic national chairman, Wednesday expressed the opinion that President Eisenhower will not seek a second term.

Butler so told newsmen as party leaders from all parts of the country gathered for a three-day round of meetings that will lay the foundation for the 1956 campaign.

"I think he will not be a candidate for re-election," Butler stated at a news conference.

That raised a question of whether health would be an issue during next year's maneuvering for political supremacy in Washington.

Open Issue

"I don't think it will be openly an issue," he replied.

He added that there would be much more interest in the subject "if Mr. (Vice President) Nixon was the running mate of Mr. Eisenhower" than if the Republicans chose a new man for the second place on their ticket.

The chairman declined to discuss Democratic contenders but stated the nominee will not be a left-winger.

Butler said an advisory committee's proposed changes in rules should be accepted by the full Democratic National Committee at sessions starting Thursday.

Loyalty Oath

The changes were designed to prevent a repetition of the dispute over the so-called "loyalty oath" that jarred the 1952 convention.

These proposed revisions provide that the democratic party in each state should:

Send "bona fide" Democrats to the national convention as delegates.

Assure that the names of the nominees chosen at the convention will be placed on state ballots under the Democratic label.

Butler was asked if Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas and Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana, who supported Eisenhower in 1952, would be welcome at the Democratic convention next August.

He said that, as chairman of the party, he would welcome any guests, but added that the convention itself is the "judge" of its delegates.

N.Y. Firm Selling Plots On Moon

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (AP) — A straight-faced claim on the moon was filed in the city clerk's office Wednesday by a corporation offering plots there at $1 an acre.

Transportation is not offered.

Robert R. Coles, former chairman of the Hayden Planetarium in New York City, filed the claim in behalf of the interplanetary Development Corp., of Glen Cove.

He indicated the venture was partly humorous—but partly serious.

"Sure, it's a joke," he told a newsman, "but they've been selling square inches of Texas and the Klondike. Why can't we sell the moon by acres?"

Joke or not, the corporation described itself in the claim as a profit-making organization and ready to sell quit claim deeds to designated plots on the moon at $1 an acre.

Probers Told 'Wilson' Blocked Sales To Competing Bus Firm

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)— A Senate committee today received testimony indicating that Charles E. Wilson in 1952 blocked the sale of General Motors engines to a competing motor bus manufacturer.

Thomas P. Butler, vice president of the Flxible Co. of Loudonville, Ohio, told the antitrust and monopoly subcommittee the engines were ordered for Flxible buses through the Great Lakes Diesel Co., a dealer in Cleveland.

He produced a memorandum dated Jan. 29, 1952, relating that Dick Cook, the Great Lakes sales manager, informed Flxible:

"I just received a telephone call from the Detroit office stating that orders had come down from Mr. Wilson who had a meeting with other officials in Chicago that we were not to deliver any engines to the Flxible Co. as they are competitors of ours."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) presiding at the hearing, commented that while there may be more than one Wilson in the GM organization he is "inclined to believe" that the one referred to in this instance is the present secretary of defense, then president of General Motors.

The Senate subcommittee is engaged in a "case study" of General Motors—how the corporation grew so big and the impacto f its bigness on competitors and the country.

Two other manufacturers testified that dwindling sales forced them out of the bus-making field as General Motors increased its percentage of total bus sales from 51 per cent in 1950 to 80.9 per cent in the first nine months of this year.

Frank R. Fageol of Kent, Ohio, chairman of Twin Coach Co., said he had to sell his bus-making business to Flxible.

Charles W. Perelle, president of American Bosch Arma Co. of Springfield, Mass., and former president of A.C.F Brill, a bus-making concern in Philadelphia, said the Brill company has now converted its assets to cash and proposes to engage in the retail grocery business.

Both Fageol and Perelle said early financial investments by General Motors in National City and Greyhound bus lines sewed up the bus orders of these large operators for General Motors.

Perelle said he was vice president of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft in 1945-46 when Greyhound invited Convair to design a new type bus with an air-cooled engine.

Convair hardly got started before the project was dropped, he said, because it was discovered that Greyhound, because of commitments, would have to get the consent of General Motors to buy anything but GM buses.

End To Gas War Not Yet Sighted

William Deneke, president of the Petroleum Dealers Retail Association, said the gasoline price war will probably continue.

Deneke said the price war, which started Nov. 2, has not driven any stations out of business, but could do so within two months.

Most national brand stations are selling regular gas at 22.9 cents a gallon, with independent stations averaging about a cent less. Premium gas is selling generally at two cents higher than regular.

Wilson Asks AF Restudy On Protests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said Wednesday he has asked the Air Force to make a "complete study" before insisting it can't go through with an ordered cutback in civilian personnel.

Wilson told his news conference Air Force Secretary Quarles had made a pretty good case in objecting to Defense Department instructions to eliminate 18,000 civilian jobs by next June 30.

The Air Force reduction is part of the Pentagon's program to trim all the services' civilian payrolls by 68,000 jobs. Normal attrition—refusing to fill vacancies which arise—is expected to absorb a good deal of the cutback.

Wilson said Quarles had a point in protesting the reduction at a time when the Air Force is adding 10 wings and expanding home front activities.

The Washington Evening Star had reported earlier that while the Army and Navy had begun arrangements to slice their civilian employment, the Air Force was holding back until Wilson acts on Quarles' appeal.

In answer to other questions, Wilson said:

1. The military services will "carry out promptly" whatever decision is made by the President and the State Department about providing arms to Israel. Wilson said the Pentagon has not yet received any specific list of armaments that Israel desires.

2. He thinks "a little competition might be helpful" in development of guided missiles. This comment came when he was asked about published reports of controversy between the Army and the Air Force over development of mid-range missiles.

Optimistic

WASHINGTON (INS)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson declared that despite the failure of the Big Four Geneva meeting he is optimistic that progress toward peace can be made.

Wilson, who sat in on the first eight sessions of the foreign ministers' parley which came to an acrimonious end Wednesday, said he thought many people expected too much from the four-power conference.

The defense chief told newsmen that his optimism is based largely on his conviction that "the Russian and American people have much more in common than would be thought from our two forms of government."

Marshal Ordered To Pay Bank Loot To Insurance Co.

The U.S. Marshal in Nebraska has been ordered to dispose of $6,722 of the loot taken in the April 27, 1953, bank robbery at Decatur.

The money, part of $14,000 taken in the robbery, has been held in an Omaha safety deposit box after it was used as evidence against a party charged as accessory in the robbery.

Gareth Warner Robinson, one of the two bank robbers now serving time in Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison, admitted hiding the sum in a vacant dwelling at Hooper, Neb.

The order issued by U.S. District Judge John Delehant Wednesday required the marshal to pay the money to the National Surety Corp., which made good the bank loss.

Baltimore Lad, 5, '56 Poster Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1956 March of Dimes poster boy is Tommy Woodward, a freckled-faced 5-year-old of Baltimore.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis named him Wednesday as the lad whose picture will appear on signboards and in other advertisements in the polio fund drive starting Jan. 3.

Tommy, stricken with polio when he was 14 months old, has spent six months of his life in hospitals. Last July his left foot was operated on. He now gets around with braces and crutches.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Veryl D. Woodward. His mother will accompany him on a personal appearance tour.

The children pictured are a few of the 38 who attend LARC School. These youngsters are not at present acceptable in our public schools. They are TRAINABLE. LARC School is operated by the parents of retarded children and their many interested friends. There are four teachers and a speech therapist. The groups are divided into the nursery, kindergarten, intermediate, and teen age. Improvement in all of the children has been remarkable. Tuition, although a big amount for the families to pay, is not sufficient to maintain the school. Contributions are necessary.

Do You Know That:

- An estimated 300 mentally retarded children will be born in the U.S. today and every day.
- There are about 4,800,000 mentally retarded "children" in the United States.
- 3 out of every 100 children are mentally retarded.
- Mental retardation is not a disease but a condition.
- There are at least 70 known or suspected common causes of mental retardation, such as prolonged high fever, convulsions, RH factor, Meningitis, etc.
- It is 9 times more prevalent than Cerebral Palsy; and 10 times greater than crippling polio.

Visitors In Town

Spending several days in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. James Munger who arrived the past week-end to be the house guests of Mr. Munger's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Munger.

Mr. Munger, who has been serving as a lieutenant with the Air Force, recently was released from the service and plans to begin work on his Master's Degree at Colorado A. and M. However, Mr. and Mrs. Munger plan to be in Lincoln until sometime in December when the next quarter begins at the Colorado college at Ft. Collins.

TOWN TALK

WE CAN'T Foresee what the weatherman has in mind for Saturday—nor can we prophesy the exact number of guests who will be in town—but we do know for sure that Nebraska sings its swan song for the season when it meets Oklahoma at the NU stadium on Saturday afternoon—and from what we gather from here and there the week-end activity around town will run true to form—There will be the usual pre-game luncheons at the clubs—the post-game dinner-dances—and informal parties at various homes.

* * *

BUT the dinner-dancing isn't completely monopolized by the Country Clubs and the University Club—The Saturday Night Club, as we told you several days ago, also is dining and dancing on Saturday evening.

And coming from Omaha to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett at the Saturday Night Club party are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gribble.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallett will compliment their guests with an hors d'oeuvres party at their home following the game.

* * *

THEN we heard that Miss Hava Rae Bernstein and three guests—all from the University of Oklahoma, will be the week-end guests of Miss Bernstein's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bernstein. Miss Bernstein's house guests will include Miss Radine Goldberg of Beatrice, a Sigma Delta Tau at Oklahoma, and the Misses Sandy Gast and Sally Ramsey of Bartlesville, Okla., Kappa Kappa Gammas at the University of Oklahoma.

* * *

SPEAKING of parties—Heard that Mr. and Mrs. Evert M. Hunt and their daughter, Miss Margo Hunt will be host and hostesses at a 6 o'clock to 9 o'clock party in the House and Garden Room at Hotel Blackstone on Saturday evening, Nov. 26. The guest list will include the members of the 1955 Court of Ak-Sar-Ben in which Miss Hunt is a Countess, and guests from Chicago, Kansas City, and Lincoln.

A gold and yellow motif will be featured in the decor for the party which also includes dancing.

* * *

SOMEONE told us that Miss Patti Ellis will be arriving today from Boulder, Colo., where she is attending the University of Colorado, to spend the week-end as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ellis.

* * *

BACK to dancing for the moment—and this time it is the Square and Spare Club which is having one of its regular shindigs in the barn at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur G. Wiedman. Serving as hosts and hostesses for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. James Critchfield and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Folsom.

* * *

THE Saturday evening calendar includes a dessert supper for which Mrs. L. A. Westland of Prairie Home and Mrs. J. E. Reed will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Westland, when they entertained in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Mary Janet Reed whose marriage to Ens. Ted Barger will take place on Dec. 22. The guest list will include only members of the families, and the bride-elect will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

College View PTA Has Chorus

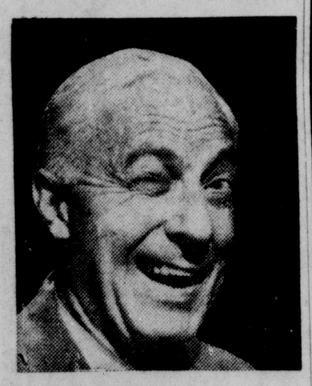
It's not every PTA that can boast a professional chorus line, and though College View's is not professional, at least they try hard.

Preparing for the organization's annual fun night program at a dress rehearsal Wednesday evening were these PTA "chorus girls" (from left) H. A. Braum, J. F. King, R. F. Michel, V. A. Pangborn, Kenneth Pierson, Bob Hollingsworth and Rex Higley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pierson form the committee in charge of arrangements for the fun night, to be held from 6 o'clock to 8:30 o'clock Friday evening at the school.

The program not only features a complete stage show, but there will be games, movies, a booth for crazy hats and another for fortune-telling, and of course refreshments.

"Smart gal, my Susie!"



▶ A lot of wives complain about housework, but not my Susie. She uses her head instead of her muscles. For example, some women are always waxing floors. But my Susie uses new, hard lustre Bruce Self-Polishing Wax. She never has to wax more than once a month or so. That bright, hard finish seems to wear like iron. And to top it off, our beautiful floors are the envy of Susie's friends. My hat's off to Susie and her new Bruce Self-Polishing Wax for making a tough job so easy. Can't help but feel proud of both of them.

▶ P.S. You're the boss, gals! New Bruce Self-Polishing Wax must outshine, outlast all others—or money back!

Trainmen Rescue Pinned, Freezing Trucker Near Kimball

OMAHA (AP) — A Union Pacific train crew rescued a truck driver pinned beneath his overturned truck trailer in three-above-zero weather Tuesday, the railroad headquarters reported.

The mail train was halted to make temporary repairs about three miles east of Kimball, Neb., late Tuesday afternoon, and Flagman A. R. Hora of North Platte, who had gone to the rear of the train to warn approaching trains, heard someone crying for help.

Hora said he found Robert A. Mitchell, Sidney truck driver, pinned underneath his overturned truck trailer which was loaded with oil well equipment. His left leg was broken. Mitchell was in fair condition Wednesday.

Hora, Conductor J. E. Inman of North Platte, Head Brakeman F. C. Robey of North Platte and an unidentified passenger, were able to pry the trailer off the man. They put him on the undamaged truck tractor and drove it as near to the right-of-way as possible, put him on the train and took him into Sidney for hospitalization.

The spot where Mitchell was found was about 1½ miles from the highway. He had been there 25 minutes and trainmen speculated that he might have lain there indefinitely had they not heard his cries.

County Legislative District Boundaries Ruled Unchanged

Boundaries of Lancaster County's three Legislative districts remain as laid out by the Legislature in 1937, regardless of the fact the city of Lincoln may have extended its corporate limits, the Attorney General's office ruled Wednesday.

Lancaster County Election Commissioner Harold Gillett asked for the opinion.

The opinion points out that all redistricting is up to the Legislature, but districts may not be changed oftener than once in 10 years.

First Lutheran Names Officers

Six new officers were elected at the annual meeting of the First Lutheran Church Tuesday evening.

Elected as Deacons for three years are R. L. Fredstrom, Stuart Maseman and Dale Monteen. Trustees fo ra three-year term are Chester Abrahamson, Don Broman and Emmett Kennedy.

The proposed church budget for 1956 was set at $21,855, an increase of 15 per cent over the present budget.

Church pastor Rev. J. Sabin Swenson attributed the larger budget to an increase in contributions to missions and social work, combined with continued payments on the church organ and debt.

Present membership of the church as reported by the Rev. Mr. Swenson is 841.

MARILYN HECK CROWNED NU'S ACTIVITIES QUEEN

MARILYN HECK

Marilyn Heck of California, Mo., was crowned University of Nebraska Activity Queen at the annual All University Fund auction Wednesday evening.

Miss Heck, a journalism major in the College of Arts and Sciences, represented the Student Union in the fourth annual competition for the honor.

Candidates for activities queen were sophomores nominated by campus organizations. Judging was based on activities and scholarship.

Many Activities

Miss Heck is hospitality committee chairman for the Union; section head of the Cornhusker, University yearbook; assistant in Builders, campus service organization; and board member of Coed Counselors, "big sister" organization.

She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic fraternity for freshman women, and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Miss Heck and her attendants were among the "items" sold at the auction which climaxed the annual fund drive of AUF, the campus community chest.

Her attendants were Nancy Salter and Beverly Buck, both of Lincoln, Barbara Sharp of Omaha and Sara Hubka of Beatrice.

"Property on sale" included members of the Cornhusker football squad, University professors, sorority and fraternity pledge classes and other campus queens.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

We're notifying Borough President Jim Lyons that the Bronx cheer has been translated into Spanish. It achieved international status at an Argentine race track.

We created the term at old Madison Square Garden when Benny Leonard was world lightweight champion. It started as accolade of the Bronx, the Bronx buzzer and finally Bronx cheer.

☆ ☆ ☆

Outside of the added castanets and heel-taps the cheer sounds the same in Spanish. The object of the off-key serenade can easily understand the words and music.

☆ ☆ ☆

The agitators rushed the starting-gate at the exchange premium of 40 men or eight hosses.

☆ ☆ ☆

The meeting adjourned owing to the hospitable police custom of serving tear gas during the cocktail hour.

☆ ☆ ☆

Jim, it took us 40 years to make the grade. The beauty of the cheer is it loses nothing in the translation.

St. Mary's Six-Man Champion

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

David City St. Mary's, The Lincoln Star's 1955 six-man football champion, has a world of material back next year but cannot score a repeat championship in 1956.

St. Mary's, a new school, has no senior class this year. Thus Coach Gene Pillen's entire squad will return next year. But the school will be playing 11-man football, according to present plans.

The Star's Top Ten
FINAL RATINGS
SIX-MAN

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1. David City St. Mary's | (9-0) | 7. Norfolk Sacred Heart | (7-2) |
| 2. Ceresco | (11-0) | 8. Meadow Grove | (8-1) |
| 3. Cedar Bluffs | (9-1) | 9. Elmwood | (8-1-1) |
| 4. Indianola | (9-0) | 10. Bellwood Marietta | (6-1) |
| 5. Diller | (10-0) | | |
| 6. Filley | (9-1) | | |

Pillen's 1955 squad had more depth than other six-man teams in Nebraska, and was capable of ending its season with an eight-man victory and two 11-man wins. So prospects for an 11-man team next year are far from dim.

Heading the list of returnees are Tom Peters, a swift halfback; Bob Roh, a standout lineman; and Max Coufal, a sophomore quarterback who is already showing ability to match that of his brother Norm, now a University of Nebraska basketball and baseball player.

St. Mary's fine record merits the 1955 championship even though two other six-man clubs had more victories

Coach Revoe Hill's Ceresco club had a 10-0 season record and beat Filley in the Viking Bowl to take second place. Graduation will riddle this squad.

Third place goes to Cedar Bluffs, a team which lost only one game. That was to Ceresco, 28-25.

Fourth place goes to unbeaten Indianola. Indianola ended a unbeaten year by whipping a good McCook Red Willow team last week.

Diller, like Ceresco, added a Viking Bowl victory to its record. Diller nipped Meadow Grove for its 10th straight win. The Homesteader champions will have speedy Connie Lawrence back next year to build around.

Sixth is Filley, a team which went unbeaten until the Viking Bowl. Filley boasted perhaps the top six-man power runner in the state, Dale Siefkes.

Norfolk Sacred Heart's 21-game win streak was ended this season, but the team lost to a tough one —champion St. Mary's. Sacred Heart lost to Crofton, 47-19, last week but it was an eight-man game.

Meadow Grove's loss to Diller in the Viking Bowl was a close one, and Coach Charles Anderson's team came close to tying on the final play. Meadow Grove is eighth.

Elmwood, the ninth-place team, played Ceresco a close 29-20 game early in the season. Elmwood was tied by Ruskin.

Bellwood Marietta had a short schedule but played good clubs and rolled up a 6-1 record to be 10th.

Sooners Practice Despite Weather

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The Oklahoma football squad practiced for Saturday's Nebraska game in near-freezing temperatures Wednesday.

The Sooners honed their own attack and rehearsed defensive assignments against Cornhusker plays reeled off by freshmen.

Trainer Ken Rawlinson disclosed that everyone is expected to be in top shape for the crucial Big Seven championship clash at Lincoln.

Ted Atkinson, Doug Dodson, Hedley Woodhouse and Johnny Choquette are natives of Canada.

One Of 11 Problems

One of several Oklahoma All-American candidates is guard Bo Bolinger. Bolinger will bulwark the Sooner line which poses Nebraska's biggest problem of the season next Saturday.

Nebraska Practice Geared To Weather

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Nebraska began gearing its football preparations for Oklahoma to the weather Wednesday as the Capital City was in the grips of a biting cold snap.

The Huskers worked outside for part of Wednesday's session and then went into the warmer confines of the Field House.

Coach Bill Glassford said he was "putting a little more emphasis on the NU running game in anticipation of cold temperatures that would hamper an aerial offensive."

Defensively the Huskers were concentrating on stopping the Sooners' highly effective option play.

Scouting reports and the exchange movie (OU vs Missouri) indicate that Oklahoma makes more use of the option play than the other Split-T teams Nebraska has faced.

This is undoubtedly due to the fact that the Sooners have two of the finest running quarterbacks in the business, Starter Jimmy Harris and his understudy Jay O'Neil.

"Both Harris and O'Neal are great runners and very dangerous on the option," Glassford said. "They rank with such Sooner stars as Royal (Darrell), Mitchell (Jack), Calame (Gene) and the others."

Maryland Scout Here

Maryland, which will meet Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, will have a scout here Saturday to watch the Sooners against Nebraska. Eddie Teague, assistant coach, will chart the Sooner maneuvers in the Big Seven championship battle with the Cornhuskers.

NU Underdog

As expected Nebraska has been tabbed a 21-point underdog by the oddsmakers. After an early spread of 22 to 26, the odds dropped to 21 as the cold air hit.

Miami Scribe

Jimmy Burns, sports editor of the Miami Herald, will be on hand to cover the Nebraska-Oklahoma game. The Sooners will meet Maryland in the Orange Bowl and Burns is seeking first-hand information on the nation's No. 1 football team.

Snow On Field

The Memorial Stadium turf wasn't covered before Tuesday night's snow, but most of the white stuff had blown off by afternoon Wednesday.

Ducks Call

Coach Glassford, who hasn't looked ahead to any opponent all fall — taking games one at a time —was doing some future gazing Wednesday.

"I think I'll go duck hunting next week," Bill grinned.

Seats Available

There are still plenty of bleacher seats remaining for the Oklahoma-Nebraska game, Business Manager A. J. Lewandowski announced. These can be obtained in either the north or south bleachers for $2 each.

Huskers On Roundup

The Oklahoma-Nebraska football game will be carried as a part of the CBS Roundup of football Saturday. Joe Foss will be the announcer.

Spieser Spills Paddy Young Four Times

CHICAGO (AP) — Chuck Spieser of Detroit blasted veteran Paddy Young of New York to the floor four times before Referee Frank Giltner stopped the scheduled 10-rounder Wednesday night at 2:45 of the second round.

Spieser, outweighing his shorter opponent 171 to 168, bombed the 27-year-old Young with a left hook and sizzling right in the first round. Young went down, was on one knee at the count of four then took a nine count before arising.

He weathered the first in the Chicago Stadium feature in fair shape and came out strongly in the second. But two whistling rights by 26-year-old Spieser sent him to the floor for a nine count. When he arose, a left slashed a gash at the corner of his right eye, then two straight rights set him on his haunches again for the count of nine.

Paddy got up, only to be met by the hard-hitting Spieser charging in. Another right to the head rocked him and he fell again amid a flurry. At the count of nine he rose shakily, but before Spieser could throw another shot, Gilmer stepped between them and stopped the scrap.

Big Day Puts Swink Ahead In TD Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Swink, Texas Christian's darting ball-carrier, looms as the new touchdown champion of major college football ranks.

The brilliant climax runner of the Horned Frogs broke the race for the season's individual scoring honors wide open Saturday with his 4 - touchdown, 2 - conversion burst against Texas for 26 points.

This put him 23 points ahead of a quartet of challengers and made chances remote that he could be overtaken in the final two weeks of the campaign.

Swink, who Tuesday was voted The Associated Press' "Back of the Week," has a total of 107 points on 17 touchdowns and 5 extra points.

Four Runner-Ups

The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau's statistical records show four backs in the runner-up spot with 84 points. These are Tom McDonald of Oklahoma, Jon Arnett of Southern California, Howard Cassady of Ohio State and Ed Vereb of Maryland.

Art Luppino of Arizona, leading scorer last year, is sixth with 74 points.

Cassady scored 18 points against Iowa while McDonald and Vereb plucked 12 each over Iowa State and Clemson, respectively. Arnett, who has been battling Swink for the top position, was idle

Swink has a chance to increase his point production against Rice and Southern Methodist. Arnett has two games remaining, with UCLA and Notre Dame, as has McDonald, with Nebraska and Oklahoma A&M coming up for the Sooners. Cassady and Vereb just get one more shot each at the crown, with Michigan and George Washington, respectively.

Pass-Catching Honors

Meanwhile, it appears that Hank Burnine of Missouri is sure to seize pass-catching honors for the year, the first Big 7 player in history to lead the nation in receiving.

Lincoln Artist 2nd In Stamp Contest

WASHINGTON (AP)—A water color sketch of a pair of American Mergansers in flight skimming low over fog-bound water was chosen Wednesday as the design for the 1956-57 duck stamp.

Edward J. Bierly, Arlington, Va., submitted the winning design. He was runner-up in last year's competition conducted by the Fish and Wildlife Service.

C. G. Pritchard, Lincoln, Neb., staff artist with the Nebraska State Conservation Department, was runner-up with a design showing three mallards.

Makes Greatest Comeback

Roy Campanella, catcher for the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers, was named as the National League player who made the greatets comback of the 1955 season. He's shown at his liquor store in Harlem, New York City. (AP Wirephoto.)

Campy Named NL Comeback Player

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's sturdy catcher, who ranks with the greatest of all time, was named Wednesday as the National League player who made the greatest comeback of the 1955 season.

The veteran backstop, who will be 34 years old Saturday, rebounded brilliantly from a luckless 1954 campaign to lead the Dodgers with a .318 batting average, catch 123 games, drive in 107 runs and hammer 32 home runs. His exploits earned him the No. 1 catcher rating on The Associated Press' major league All-Star team.

Campanella received 57 votes among the 99 members of the baseball writers' fraternity who participated in the annual AP poll. Don Newcombe, Campanella's battery-mate and 20-game winner, was second with 35 votes. Southpaw Johnny Podres, a third Dodger, got 2 votes as did righthander Saul Rogovin of the Philadelphia Phillies. Catcher Stan Lopata of the Phils, outfielder Wally Post of the Cincinnati Reds and righthander Sam Jones of the Chicago Cubs had 1 vote each.

'54 Poorest Season

Campanella, who will be starting his ninth year with the Dodgers next year, suffered the poorest season of his life in '54 when a broken left hand incapacitated him for more than a month and reduced his efficiency for the balance of the campaign. He wound up with a wretched .207 batting mark, drove in only 51 runs and hit 19 homers. His sub-par season had a great deal to do with the Dodgers' disappointing second-place finish that year.

Campanella credits his remarkable comeback to a winter operation, his second in six months, which relieved the pressure of a nerve that had been causing partial paralysis of the left hand. The pain was still evident in spring training, during which Campy failed to demonstrate any of his hitting ability.

The Dodgers' front office became so worried that only a week before the start of the season, club President Walter O'Malley called Roy aside and asked

"Do I have to make a trade for another catcher?'

Campanella looked his boss in the eye and replied:

"If you do, Mr O'Malley, he's not going to catch."

Campanella knew what he was talking about. Except for the times he was sidelined by a chipped knee and a bruised hand, Campanella caught in every game. It marked the seventh straight year he had caught in 100 or more games The durable backstop says he intends to go on catching indefinitely.

Jet Boat Speeds 216.2 MPH In Nevada Test

BOULDER CITY, Nev. (AP) — England's Donald Malcolm Campbell, the only man to pilot a speedboat more than 200 miles an hour and live to tell about it, broke his own world record by streaking his jet powered Bluebird over Lake Mead at 216.2 M.P.H.

The spectacular performance cracked the mark of 202.32 which the debonair Britisher set at Lake Ullswater in England last July 24.

It also justified the confidence the 34-year-old speed king had in aiming at new achievements when he brought his 2½-ton, all-metal water monster to America nearly two months ago.

The Bluebird was timed officially at the phenomenal speed of 239.5 on the first of two required runs over a measured kilometer distance, and 193.0 on the return run.

Hydroplane Disintegrated

The only other man to exceed 200 m.p.h. was John Cobb of England, who was killed when his jet propelled hydroplane disintegrated at a speed of 206 m.p.h. on one run in Scotland in September, 1952.

Campbell and the Bluebird at Lake Ullswater were timed at approximately 215 and 189 m.p.h. for the 202.32 record.

Campbell, the son of the late land and water speed enthusiast, Sir Malcolm Campbell, was a happy man when he clambered out of the cockpit of the Bluebird.

"The run down was fine," he said, "but on the way back the wind had come up and the water was a little rough. I took a terrific beating."

He revealed that at one phase he might have been hurled through the plastic canopy protecting him had it not been for the shoulder straps which lock him in the single-seat cockpit.

Former World Mark

Prior to Campbell's July record run, the world mark was 178 m.p.h. set in 1952 by Stanley Sayres Slo-Mo Shun IV of Seattle.

Wednesday's record was set over a dangerously short listance of water, about 3½ miles. This meant that Campbell did not have too much distance to accelerate the Bluebird, and not too much to decelerate.

Half joking, but still serious, he observed beforehand:

"I truly hope I do not have to climb a mountain." He referred to the rugged country bordering Lake Mead.

The success ended a series of tests and several disappointments since Campbell arrived at neighboring Las Vegas to set up headquarters Last Oct. 16 on a nationally televised show Campbell failed in a record attempt, due primarily to the presence of hundreds of pleasure craft on the lake which stirred up choppy waves.

New Engine Installed

The Bluebird swamped and sank in 40 feet of water as it was being towed ashore. Extensive work had to be done to the craft at Nellis Air Base near here, a new jet engine was installed and further technical problems solved.

Ringey New Chisox Aid

CHICAGO, (AP) — The Chicago White Sox Wednesday eliminated the office of general manager and named Farm Director John Rigney a vice-president to run the club with Charles Comiskey II.

The action came at the club's annual meeting of stock-holders.

The Comiskey family, in effect, designated Comiskey and Rigney as successors to resigned General Manager Frank Lane. Comiskey has been the club's lone vice-president

Lane left the club after the 1955 season to become general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. His reason for quitting the Sox, Lane said, was because of a feud with 29-year-old Comiskey.

Rigney, a former White Sox pitcher, is the son-in-law of Mrs. Grace Comiskey, club president, who announced the new organizational setup.

It had been supposed that when Lane tool leave after seven years of successful Sox rebuilding, that young Comiskey would run the entire Pale Hose show.

There was some speculation, too, that another general manager might be named, but one who would have less of a free hand than Lane.

Bobo Olson's Wife Sues For Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Mrs. Helen Dolores Olson, wife of world middleweight boxing champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, announced Wednesday she will file suit for divorce.

Mrs. Olson's attorney, Warren Sapiro, said she will charge the middleweight title-holder with extreme cruelty in a suit to be filed Thursday in Redwood City, Calif.

Sapiro said the attractive Mrs. Olson will ask custody of the couple's four children and "her fair share" of the community property. He added:

PITT END AP'S CHOICE AFTER UPSET OF WV

By TED MEIER
The Associated Press

"Mean John" Paluck, whose smashing tactics at end helped Pitt upset West Virginia last Saturday was named Associated Press Lineman of the week Wednesday.

Living up to Pitt's November tradition, "Mean John" constantly barged into the West Virginia backfield, seldom giving the harried Mountaineer backs a chance to develop the drive that had brought them into Pitt Stadium unbeaten and untied.

Twice the 225 - pound Paluck forced fumbles by West Virginia's Freddie Wyant and Joe Marconi. The Panthers recovered both, Paluck falling on one himself, and promptly capitalized on them for two third-period touchdowns, more than enough in Pitt's 26-7 triumph.

Joe Walton, Pitt's other end who scored the Panthers' first touchdown, likewise played a bangup game, but it was Paluck who got the nod in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Tackle Fred Robinson of Washington was another whose fine play drew attention. He led the forward wall of the Huskies in the effort against UCLA that nearly provided the upset of the season. The Uclans won in the last 18 seconds on Jim Decker's field goal from the Washington 25.

End Eugene Stallings of Texas A&M was nominated for his sterling performance against Rice. He intercepted two passes and recovered an onside kick that set up the Aggies' winning touchdown in the 26-12 victory.

Jim Freeman, Iowa end who scored all his team's points in its losing 20-10 effort against Ohio State; Jack Wilson, Richmond end; center Hugh Pitts, of Texas Christian; tackle Norman Hamilton of Texas Christian, guards Wayland Roberts of Arkansas, Jim Brown of UCLA, Bo Bolinger of Oklahoma and John Jankans, Arizona State (Tempe), were other linemen nominated.

Tough, But Oh—So Gentle

"Mean John" Paluck, Pitt's rough and tough end named Associated Press Lineman of the Week for his stellar play against West Virginia, grimaces as two co-eds congratulate him in their own way. It's a sure bet Pitt's football opponents never found him so sweet. The gals are (left to right) Esther Policichio, Gladys Flesher and Jeanne McGann. (AP Wirephoto)

Colt Owner Would Be Oriole Boss Too

BALTIMORE (AP) — Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Baltimore Colts and godfather of professional football here, said Wednesday he wants to buy a controlling interest in the Baltimore Orioles.

"If the present owners decide to make a change and the opportunity presents itself for one man to purchase controlling interest in the Orioles," said Rosenbloom in a telephone conversation from New York, "I am definitely interested."

Owners of the American League baseball club have engaged in a tug-of-war which recently saw the resignation of Clarence W. Miles as president.

"I honestly think that the best thing for Baltimore would be to have the direction and policy-making of the club in the hands of one man . . . I'm interested in being that man, but it's up to the present owners of the Orioles," said Rosenbloom.

Knew Of No Moves

Zanvyl Krieger, a leading Oriole stockholder and a pioneer with Rosenbloom in the 1953 return of the Colts to the National Football League, said he didn't "know anything about any recent move to sell Carroll a controlling interest."

"Nobody in the Oriole group which has a controlling interest has shown any inclination toward getting out, so far as I know," Krieger added.

Rosenbloom said he was "approached by someone of authority with the Orioles" within the last couple of days. The Colts' owner said he was coming to Baltimore Friday from New York, headquarters of his clothing manufacturing firm.

Lincoln High Banquet To Have New Twist

Links To Bring Back Former Stars

Lincoln High School is adding a novel twist to the annual football banquet theme.

Friday night the Student Council and Athletic Department will honor the 1955 Links with a banquet at Cotner Terrace, starting at 6:30 p.m.

In addition, there will be many former Lincoln football coaches and players dating back to the years before 1922.

"We want these young fellows of 1955 to meet and know some of the fellows who helped build the LHS spirit into the great thing it is today," Coach Bill Pfeiff said.

Also in attendance will be the three metropolitan sports editors, all graduates of Lincoln High. They are Wally Provost of the Omaha World Herald, Dick Becker of The Lincoln Journal and Don Bryant of The Lincoln Star.

Representing the Bill Pfeiff era (1946-1955) will be Dick Beechner, former Links ace pivot and son of former coach Ralph Beechner, now physical education co-ordinator for the public schools; and Pfeiff's "dream backfield."

Members of this aggregation are John Moore, blocking back; Bill Debus, fullback; Roger Krhounek, tailback and Mel Knopp, wingback.

Col. Floyd Bottorff, University of Nebraska equipment manager who got his start at Lincoln High, will attend too.

Here's the rest of the lineup, all of whom have indicated they'll be on hand Friday night:

Before 1922 — Coach A. H. Miller, Phil Mockett, Gerald Merritt, Max Towle, Lyle Holland and Hal Bowers.

1922-29 — Coach Harold Browne, John(Jug) Brown, Steve Watkins, Clayton Lewis, Fred Gardner (Browne's first captain and the player who tossed the touchdown pass to Lewis that insured the 1922 state championship), Dorsey McIntyre, Art Perry and Carl Tindall.

Alliance Area Water Level Dropping And May Not Recover

By ODELL HANSON
The Associated Press

Ground water levels in the heavily pumped Alliance irrigation area have been dropping at a foot-a-year clip over the past 10 years and "may never recover," a groundwater expert said here Wednesday.

Elsewhere over Nebraska, the underground water table generally is near a record low and fall rains which might have recharged the supply have not yet shown up in force.

The observations came from C. F. Keech of Lincoln, ground water official for the U.S. Geological Survey, who recently toured much of Nebraska to check on the situation.

Nothing to Get Excited About

It's nothing to get excited about yet, he said in an interview—a view concurred in by State Geologist E. C. Reed.

"But if we don't get some winter and spring recovery, then I think it would be something to worry about," said Reed.

There are indications that "some significant recovery" already has been made in certain localized areas of central Nebraska, around Grand Island and Kearney, where rains have been received, Reed said. But in most of the shallow well areas levels are lower than ever before measured.

Below-normal precipitation in recent years, coupled with increased pumping for irrigation, have been blamed for the water level decline. Levels recover rapidly when precipitation is heavy enough, Reed said.

Even in the Lower Platte Valley, despite lowest levels since 1931, the amount of the drop rarely exceeds 10 feet, Keech said. In upland areas the drop generally amounts to a foot or two except at Alliance, where heavy pumping has taken place for several years.

The water table around Alliance is about 100 feet below ground and as a result, doesn't recharge as rapidly as do shallower sands, Keech said.

Additionally, Reed pointed out, the western Nebraska area receives less total precipitation than other sections of the state and this increases the demand for supplemental water for irrigation. The deep wells are expensive, too, and irrigators utilize them more heavily to justify their investment.

Eventually the water table around Alliance may stabilize itself at a certain level, Reed said. "We hope so," he added.

The geologist said it would be his "pure guess" that from 2,500 to 3,000 new irrigation wells have been drilled in the state this year, for a total approaching the 15,000 mark.

At the end of last year the state had an estimated 11,863 wells, an increase of 2,452 over 1953.

TALK TURKEY with HOLMES

FROM Mary Blake, DIRECTOR CARNATION HOME SERVICE DEPARTMENT

TIPS FOR HOLIDAY GRAVY-MAKING

My favorite gravy-making tips are: (1) Use the same amount of turkey or chicken drippings as flour; (2) Cool drippings slightly before combining with flour over LOW heat; and (3) Blend fat and flour thoroughly—then add Carnation mixed with equal amount of water. You'll get the SMOOTHEST gravy ever.

CARNATION GIBLET GRAVY

Combine ¼ cup turkey drippings with ¼ cup flour in skillet over low heat. Blend thoroughly; gradually add 1 cup undiluted Carnation mixed with 1 cup water to flour-fat mixture. Stir occasionally until thickened and smooth. Season to taste. Add ½ cup cooked chopped turkey giblets just before serving in heated gravy boat.

Collins Tells Editors NATO 'Greatest Deterrent' To Communism

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (AP) — Gen. Lawton Collins said Wednesday NATO is "the greatest deterrent" to communism and he believed "we have convinced the Russians they could not quickly overrun" Western Europe.

But, he told the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., the Russians' current attitude of "sweetness and light" has caused a "tendency to let down" among the 13 nations which are allied in the North Atlanitc Treaty Organization.

This is the way the Russians are trying to destroy NATO, he said, by fostering a belief they mean no country any harm. But he quoted Nikita Khrushchev, general secretary of the Communist party, of having said recently that those who believe Russian "smiles" mean abandonment of the principles of Marx, Lenin and Stalin will have to wait until "a shrimp learns to whistle."

First Sessions

Collins, U. S. representative in the military command of NATO, spoke at a luncheon during the first day's session of the annual APME meeting.

Some 240 managing editors from throughout the country are here to discuss and study ways of helping the Associated Press improve its services and their own newspapers.

Collins told the editors they have a big responsibility to report the news of Western Europe in a way that will show that in spite of "all the difficulties" among the NATO countries, "we do make progress."

Sell Problem

He said the problem is to sell democratic ideas as much as it is to build defensive military strength.

"It gets me riled when I see us losing in a battle of ideas like this," he said.

NATO has no offensive plan, Collins said; its organizations and plans are entirely defensive, so the Russians should have no fear of military attack.

Collins said that to maintain NATO's effectiveness, Western European countries must continue to receive economic as well as military aid.

Collins said that SEATO, an organization of eight nations for the support of Southeast Asia, has "no definite pledge to do anything about aggression from a military point of view."

But he said merely the fact that SEATO exists has had a helpful effect in "what stability there is in Indochina today."

Same Price

CHICAGO (INS) — Thanksgiving dinner for Midwestern families this year should cost about the same as last year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Based on Chicago retail prices for identical food items compared over the past five years, this year's Thanksgiving turkey dinner can be bought for $7.68. This compares with $7.73 last year, $8.22 in 1953, $8.14 in 1952 and $8.63 in 1951.

The foods were chosen to provide a meal for four persons with a minimum of leftovers.

Double Death Probe Pushed By N.Y. Cops

NEW YORK (AP)—Seventy-five detectives Wednesday were thrown into a hunt for a trigger-happy holdup man who shot two women to death in a Jackson Heights beautician's office.

Two men were picked up for questioning in Tuesday's execution-type slaying of beautician Mae Gazzo, 32, and her customer, Kathleen M. Egan, a 25-year-old bride-to-be.

One of the men turned out to be a harmless crackpot. The other, a bartender, was questioned about a gun in his possession.

Meanwhile, an autopsy showed neither woman had been molested.

Treatment

The younger woman was unclad and was undergoing hair removal treatment when she was slain.

Said Deputy Chief Inspector Daniel McGovern, in charge of Queens detectives:

'This is one of the toughest cases we've ever been called on to solve, but we believe robbery was the motive for this double killing."

At best, the killer got only about $50 when he ransacked the purses of the two women.

GOP Prodded

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey called upon Republicans Wednesday night to organize "from the precincts to the presidency" for the 1956 political campaigns.

Humphrey coupled his political appeal with an enumeration of the accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration in the struggle for world peace, achievement of a new high in employment—65,500,000 in jobs—and an "unequaled" prosperity.

She Says Baker's Best For Dandruff-Itchy Scalp

RAYMOND, Nebr. — Mrs. Andrew J. Cook says: "I have tried many different things for dandruff and itchy scalp, and nothing else compares with Baker's Hair Tonic. After you have been disappointed many times, you are grateful when you find Baker's. It does the job so thoroughly and pleasantly. I also want to say a good word for Baker's Lathernist Shampoo. It's really good."

46,400 Acres Opens To Prospectors

PUMPKIN BUTTES, Wyo. (AP)—A legal hassle Wednesday overshadowed the opening of 46,400 acres of public land in Wyoming to uranium prospectors.

The area, surrounding Pumpkin Buttes in northeastern Wyoming, opens to claim filing Thursday.

Hordes of prospectors, seeking a quick fortune, have swarmed into the area to get a jump on staking claims.

Officials of a mining district, formed Nov. 7 in the hope of eliminating disputes between prospectors and ranchers, argue it is the only legal recorder of claims. But the county clerk said he has been ordered to continue accepting filings.

Court Order

An attorney for the mining district, Michael Hoch of Gillette, said he will meet Thursday with District Judge G. A. Layman to seek a court order compelling the filing of claims with his district officials rather than the county clerk.

A group of four men claiming to represent established mining interests has called the mining district unconstitutional and challenged legality of some of its rules.

Hoch said the district was formed according to procedure set forth in Wyoming law. He said nearly all known prospectors have joined to file their claims with the district.

Rescinded

An Interior Department order opening 65,343 acres of land to claim filing last May 3 was rescinded late in April on the request of Gov. Milward L. Simpson and Wyoming's congressional delegation. They said both prospectors and ranchers had been packing pistols and claimed there was a threat of violence.

The land to be opened consists of 7,520 acres of public domain opened to homesteading and other forms of public entry Aug. 18, and 38,920 acres of lands on which ranchers and farmers own surface rights but the government retains mineral rights.

About 18,800 acres of state-owned and other lands in the area are not open to prospecting or public land entry.

Austrians Report 7 Yanks Being Held By Soviets

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Austrians returning from Soviet camps Wednesday reported they met seven Americans, a Briton, two Swedes, two Frenchmen, a Dutchman and a Japanese in Russian captivity.

The 40 Austrians, including a woman, had been held by the Russians as alleged war criminals. They were turned over to Austrian authorities for further prosecution, and the Austrians released them.

The returnees named these Americans:

Henry Makirauskas of Athol, Mass.; Marie Marzena Wilson of Texas (no further details); Ralph Grotcast of San Francisco; Col. Jack Cerny (address unknown); Jim Fabian (address unknown); Sidney Ray Sparks of Tennille, Ga., and Michael Feingersch of Jamaica, New York. Feingersch was returned from the Soviet Union to U.S. military control in Berlin Sept. 5.

Lincoln Firm Low On 300 Parking Meters

A Lincoln firm submitted the apparent low bid for 300 new parking meters to be used on the fringe of the downtown business district.

Highway Equipment and Supply Co. presented a bid of $49.33 for automatic Kar-Park meters. Discounts of five per cent for 30-day payment, and two per cent if the supplier would be allowed to take meter receipts as payment were offered.

The bid was 17 cents under a quotation of $49.50 for the manual meter of the Dual Co. That firm offered automatic meters at $55.50.

The city now has 1,476 meters and the Traffic Department has recommended the purchase of 900 more for the new locations and to replace worn out equipment.

Other bids for the first 300 included:

Duncan-Miller Meter: On 50-50 payment basis, $54.26 for manual; $61.74 for automatic; discount of five per cent for cash.

Park-O-Meter: Automatic, 50-50 basis, $57.65, or cash and discount option, $54.77; or meter money until paid for, $56.21.

Mi-Co Twin Meter: Two on one post, $98 per twin; where single meters are necessary, $72 for automatic type, $59 for manual, less discount.

Acrobat Reports Baby Kidnaped

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — An acrobat reported his 19-month-old daughter kidnapped from his apartment, and police said they are seeking the mother, a striptease dancer, for questioning.

Mario Dacal, 30, said his apartment had been entered through a window from a balcony. Missing besides baby Linda, Dacal told officers, were her crib, clothes, a baby book containing her birth certificate, and the mother's clothes.

Dacal told police that after a Mexican divorce he became reconciled with the baby's mother, dancer Aileen McGregor Dacal, 26. Last Saturday she moved out.

Dacal said he was awarded custody of the child in the Mexican divorce action.

Pravda Blasted

BELGRADE (AP) — The big Communist newspaper Borba blasted Moscow's Pravda for saying "development of friendly relations between Yugoslavia and Soviet Union and peoples' democracies is the decisive condition for successful development of Yugoslavia in its way to socialism." The Borba article was the first discord in Yugoslav-Soviet relations published here since the recent visit of Russian leaders to Yugoslavia.

Ike Takes On Heaviest Schedule Since Attack

. . . Dulles Heads Visitor List

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower is taking on Thursday the heaviest schedule of official conferences since his Sept. 24 heart attack in Denver.

Secretary of State Dulles is flying the Atlantic to report to Eisenhower Thursday and Friday, and then to the American people, on the Geneva conference stalemate.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks is coming up from Washington for a meeting.

To make it a triple header affair, Budget Director Rowland Hughes will see the President for the first of a series of conferences that will whip the administration's budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 into shape for presentation to Congress in January.

With Weeks and Hughes will be Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, with a new batch of documents requiring Eisenhower's attention.

For the convalescing President, this was what White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty called "a very quiet day." It hadn't been planned that way. But fog and rain kept Eisenhower indoors and official visitors were grounded in Washington.

Dulles will spend the night in Gettysburg, confer with Eisenhower again Friday, and then return to Washington. Hagerty told a news conference the White House has asked for radio-TV time for the secretary to address the nation Friday night.

He said Dulles' report will be broadcast on the CBS-TV network from 6:30 to 7 p.m. Friday, with NBC-TV carrying it from 10:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. (CST).

It will be carried by CBS and ABC radio at 9:30 p.m. Friday by NBC radio at 8:30 p.m. (CST).

Twisters Join Cold In Midwest

CHICAGO (INS) — Winter weather knifed into the heart of mid-America Wednesday and dropped temperatures as much as 64 degrees.

At the same time, a tornado smashed across Indiana and twister warnings were hoisted in Ohio.

Indiana, already hit by storms that killed two persons and broke down telephone and telegraph wires in many sections, was raked by a new twister near Madison. Disrupted communications prevented a full report.

See-Saw Weather

The harrowing combination of arctic blasts and funnel-shaped twisters was blamed on a crazy see-saw of hot and cold weather prevailing during the last few days.

Where spring-like weather occurred Tuesday cold wave warnings were posted for Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Michigan, Ohio, Tennessee and South Dakota.

Icy weather whistled out of the Rocky mountains eastward to the Ohio Valley.

Mercury Plunges

At Springfield, Mo., the mercury rose Tuesday to 77 degrees, only to plunge 64 degrees Wednesday to 13. Oklahoma City dropped from 77 to 16, Fayetteville, Ark., from 82 to 23, Abilene, Tex., from 85 to 28, Kansas City rom 67 to 13 and Quincy, Ill., from 73 to 19.

Ahead of the eastward sweep of cold went sleet and rain stretching from New England down to Kentucky.

BLAZE CLAIMS FOUR CHILDREN OF A FIREMAN

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A fire killed four of five children in a Tacoma family Wednesday while their fireman father was on duty at a fire station in another part of the city.

Both the fireman, Donald Evans, and his wife, Doris, were under sedatives at a local hospital following the tragedy.

The dead are Charles Evans, 5; John, 4; Pamela, 3, and Patricia, 2.

Evans was on duty and asleep at a fire station in another part of town when the fire broke out at about 3:20 a.m. Fire Chief Harold Fisk said it was caused by a defective fireplace.

Mrs. Evans discovered the blaze and ran next door to phone the Fire Department. She left the nightlatch on and found herself locked out on her return.

By the time she and firemen were able to break into the home, only 6-year-old Donald Jr., was still alive.

Carroll Gives Driving Tips For 'S-D' Day

Chief Joseph T. Carroll, in accord with the feeling of the day, urged drivers and pedestrians to remember that S-D Day, now set for Dec. 1, comes at a time when traffic fatalities reach an all-time high.

He quoted figures from the National Safety Council indicating that December usually results in the highest number of traffic deaths than any other month of the year.

Chief Carroll listed the following general rules, especially during bad weather, as safe-driving tips for motorists:

Get the "feel" of the road and be alert but relaxed and sense the weather and road conditions before starting out.

Adjust speed to road and weather conditions.

Keep windows and windshield clear at all times. Carry an ice scraper to use when snow and ice get too heavy.

Use tire chains on ice and snow.

When using the brake, step on it promptly, release it completely, and repeat for a safe "pumping" action.

Drive a safe distance behind other vehicles.

$90,000 Asked For Chadron Tune Request

CHADRON, Neb. (AP)—Radio Station KCSR in Chadron has been named defendant in three separate damage actions seeking to total of $90,000.

The actions, filed in district court by attorney Charles Fischer list as plaintiffs George Moshier, Mrs. Eugene Edwards and Sheryl Diane Edwards, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edwards, all of Chadron. Each seeks $30,000 damages.

The actions stem from a music request allegedly played on a KCSR morning request program after receipt of a postcard request.

The management of station KCSR declined to comment other than to say it would make a full and complete reply in court.

Merger Plans Explained At Omaha Meet

OMAHA (AP) — A merger plan for the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank and the Production Credit Corp. of Omaha which would enable farmers to take them over was explained in Omaha.

Sam H. Bober of Newell, S. D., who represents farmers and their co-operatives in the Farm Credit District of Omaha on the Federal Farm Credit Board, said the board plans to present the plan to Congress.

The plan explained was developed on recommendation of a majority of the 12 district Farm Credit Boards as the best way to carry out a Congress request to develop a method for making the entire farm credit system farmer owned.

Farmers To Take Over

The Production Credit Corporation of Omaha and the Federal Intermediate Bank of Omaha are now capitalized by the government.

But if the plan is adopted and carried out, they would complete the retirement of government capital stock in the farm credit system, Bober commented.

He said local national farm loan associations throughout the country most of the production Credit Associations, as well as the 12 Federal Land Banks are completely owned by farmers.

Boards of directors of the 40 Production Credit Associations in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Wyoming were at the meeting.

Stocks Edge Ahead With Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged ahead Wednesday in an inconclusive manner as it did Tuesday.

The move put it still closer to the magic level of the record high of last September.

Actually, prices Wednesday were quite mixed. All trading attention was on individual issues rather than on groups of stocks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $180.30. It was up 30 cents Tuesday.

The average now stands only $1.20 under the historic high mark of $181.50 established Sept. 23.

The day after that, the President suffered a heart attack, a Saturday. The following Mondy, the market slumped in the greatest one-day fall since the fateful days of 1929.

It kept on going down until Oct. 11. Since then it has retraced just about all of the lost ground.

All three component of the average Wednesday were up 10 cents, industrials, rails and utilities.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange on volume of 730,000 shares compared with 770,000 Tuesday.

All Grain Futures End Mostly Lower

CHICAGO (AP)—A slight selling squall toward the finish left nearly all grain futures lower on the Board of Trade Wednesday.

Action in the final half hour contrasted with that of the first half hour.

After a ragged start, featured by firmness in corn, all grains moved ahead.

Weakness started to appear at the end of the first hour. Soybeans were first to turn lower, eventually followed by wheat.

Corn and oats finally gave up ground in sympathy with the rest of the market.

Wheat closed ½-1¼ lower, corn ½-⅞ lower, oats ½ lower to ¼ higher and rye 1¼ lower to ¼ higher.

Soybeans closed 2 to 2⅞ lower and lard 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Israel Arms Appeal Makes Egypt Angry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel formally asked Wednesday for U. S. arms at cut-rate prices on easy payment terms. Egypt promptly protested that this would start a Middle East arms race and lose America the friendship of Arabs.

Israel's Ambassador Abba Eban told the State Department his country urgently needs defense weapons. He said Israel has a "sense of alarming vulnerability" arising from Egypt's purchases of Communist arms.

But five and a half hours later Egypt's Ambassador Ahmed Hussein turned up at the State Department to say:

"We believe Israel doesn't need American arms. We need arms ourselves for defense.

Hussein told George V. Allen, assistant secretary for Middle East affairs, that "Egypt may be compelled" to make more arms deals with the Communists. He said that if the United States ships weapons to Israel the Arab world will be convinced "the United States does not want our friendship."

The State Department issued statements saying Israel's request had been taken under consideration and Egypt's protest had been noted.

Pittsburgh Mayor Hits Burden Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh said Wednesday, "This country cannot be led and governed by a semi-retired chairman of the board—its president must be the president."

Lawrence said he wished President Eisenhower "a full and complete recovery" from his heart attack, but called it "nonesense" arising out of "panic" for Republican leaders to, as he put it, "babble . . . about easing the burdens of the presidency."

The world's most powerful office, he said, carries "life-and-death responsibilities" which may not be put aside as routine burdens.

Lawrence, the Democratic national committeeman for his state, addressed a Democratic fund-raising luncheon.

Have Some Ham, Neighbor

Fellowship was the order of the night at the annual farmer-businessmen's banquet at Fairbury, Neb., Wednesday night. Howdy neighbor was the theme of the affair, and is exemplified by the manner in which Earl Else, president of the Fairbury State Bank, passes the ham to his guest, Martin Hansen of Reynolds, at left. Other guests shown are John Behrends of Diller, second from left, and Earl Leonard. (Star Staff Photo).

500 Farmers Entertained By Businessmen

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Fellowship between farmers and businessmen was much in evidence here Wednesday night at the sixth annual farmers-businessmen's banquet at the Fairbury High School gymnasium.

Nearly 500 farmers in the Fairbury trade area were guests of about 50 sponsoring businessmen. After dining on a ham dinner furnished by the businessmen, the group was welcomed by Chamber of Commerce President Gale Stilwell who turned the program over to Master of Ceremonies John Thiessen. The latter introduced the sponsors and guest speaker, Dave Livingston, Washington, Ia., farmer.

Progress Eyed

MOSCOW (AP) — A group of British atomic scientists arrived to study Soviet atomic progress. They are repaying a visit made by Soviet atomic experts to Britain following last summer's Geneva conference on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Flying Pillboxes, Tanks Are Seen Within Generation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flying tanks and flying pillboxes were envisioned Wednesday for 3-D war tactics "within a generation."

Army Lt. Col. Robert B. Rigg, writing in Armor magazine, said adaptations of the Hiller Helicopter Co. flying platform and of Britain's "flying bedstead" for Army use could do this by 1970:

1. Virtually eliminate the military use of roads.

2. Make land mines, rivers, bridges and ridges obsolete as barriers.

3. Reduce requirements for military engineers, and eliminate the need for airfields in combat theaters.

Rigg is attached to the office of the Army chief of staff. Writing on "three-dimensional" warfare in the publicaton of the U. S. Armor Assn., he proposed that as an "interim measure," before flying tanks are developed, each infantryman be equipped with an individual helicopter and rocket launcher. The association is a privately supported organization of persons interested in the problems of mobile warfare.

Accepting Retarded Child Is Called Key To Treatment

If we can learn to accept the child who does not live up to the parents' dream, we can all benefit, Dr. Henry V. Cobb told 100 guests at the LARC School luncheon Wednesday.

Dr. Cobb, head of the psychology and philosophy department of the University of South Dakota is a member of the Board of Directors of the South Dakota Mental Health Association, president of the South Dakota Association for Retarded Children and has served as a member of the governor's commission on mental health.

"If we accept the child as he is, not as we want him to be, we can bring him up to the level of his capacity."

Dr. Cobb said the problem of mentally retarded children is not new, local, or even national in scope. He pointed out, however, that there are nearly 5 million mentally impaired individuals in the country.

Dispell Bugaboos

"It is only lately that we are speaking up and finding out about causes and effects, and the old bugaboos are being dispelled," Dr. Cobb continued.

The brain is the only part of the body which does not regenerate itself, he explained. "We have what we are born with, but we can work up to a greater level of capacity if there is proper training."

Mrs. L. A. Enerson gave a progress report on the Lancaster Association for Retarded Children, Inc.

"We are proud of LARC school and the children and their accomplishments in so short a time," Mrs. Enerson said.

She said the parents alone did not build the school, but were aided by the whole city.

The meeting was held as a kick-off for Tag Day in downtown Lincoln. Tag Day, when funds are raised for the association for this school year, is Thursday.

The group also saw a movie on a parent's organization and viewed exhibits of handi-work from craft and occupational therapy classes at the State Hospital at Beatrice and work done by the children of LARC school.

Gov. Victor Anderson gave the welcome and said he was pleased to see so much civic interest in the LARC project.

Asks $3,400 Less Than Offered; NP Man Gets Post

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—William L. Wood, who wanted to be North Platte Park commissioner at a salary $3,400 less than was offered, has been approved for the job.

Recently the City Council made provision for a full-time park commissioner at a salary of $4,000 annually.

Wood, a recently retired railroad man who has been park commissioner on a part time basis for more than 20 years at a salary of $10 a year, said he'd like the job but he only wanted $600 a year in salary.

Two weeks ago, the council refused to okay the appointment, but Tuesday night voted unanimously to approve it.

Argentine Leaders Withhold Severe Strike Crackdown

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's new provisional government held back Wednesday in cracking down with severe measures on the challenge presented by the general strike called by Peronista labor leaders.

Apparently, Provisional President Maj. Gen. Pedro Aramburu's Cabinet is content for the time being to see whether the strike would end of the workers' own volition.

Aramburu met with his full cabinet Wednesday morning for the first time since he ousted Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi on Sunday. There was no announcement afterward of stern strike-breaking measures. Raul C. Migone, the labor minister, spoke only of plans being drafted to bolster the country's lagging economy.

The strike was not as extensive as hoped for by the Peronista leaders of the once all powerful Argentine General Confederation of Labor.

Man Held In Shoplifting

A 66-year-old Lincoln laborer was arrested downtown Wednesday and jailed on an open charge in connection with shoplifting at the Capital Market.

Sailors Wait

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS) — Four sailors whose new car plunged 25 feet into the ocean in Long Beach are awaiting low tide in the hope that the car can be pulled out of the sea.

Harley Matthews of Mangum, Okla., said he and his three buddies from the USS Pine Island, a seaplane tender, were riding across the Ocean Ave. bridge when the car went out of control and crashed through a guard rail.

After escaping through the car windows and swimming to the bridge pilings, they yelled until passing motorists called policemen with ropes.

Several Satellites Planned By U.S. In 1957 And '58

CHICAGO (AP) — The chairman of the United States earth satellite program said Wednesday night American scientists plan to shoot not just one but a number of satellites into space in 1957 and 1958.

The minimum program calls for launching about 10 instrument-filled objects—called "birds"—with the expectation that at least five would get above the atmosphere and orbit around the earth, said Dr. Joseph Kaplan.

Kaplan said these artificial satellites will circle the earth for a period of about two weeks, at heights of 200 to 800 miles.

Given Job

Kaplan is chairman of the U.S. National Committee for the International Geophysical Year, a division of the National Academy of Sciences which has been given the job of carrying out the American satellite program. It is part of the U.S. participation in the IGY year, a period from July 1, 1957, to the end of 1958 when more than 40 nations will cooperate in a study of the earth and its atmosphere.

The scientist outlined some new details about the satellite program in a speech prepared for a dinner of the American Rocket Society.

The announcement that the United States would launch an artificial satellite was made several months ago by President Eisenhower. At the time, only one such satellite was mentioned officially. Since then the contract for constructing the propulsion unit has been awarded to General Electric Co. and the contract for the bird itself to Glenn L. Martin Co.

Scientists Plan To Push Bill On Poisons

The Nebraska Society of Biological Scientists has voted to promote legislation concerning economic poisons in regard to labeling and quality control.

Economic poisons are household and agricultural poisons such as insecticides and weedicides.

Members of the society decided upon the basic concepts of the proposed bill and referred the matter to committee.

The committee will draw up the bill and report back to the society. Upon adoption it will be sent to the State Legislature or appropriation group, a society spokesman said.

Also on the agenda of the Wednesday night meeting was a report of water polution study in Nebraska given by John Cooper, limnologist with the Nebraska State Health Department, and a report on a study of the statutes of laboratories, given by Archie Middleton of Harris Laboratories.

B. D. Hites, chief chemist with the Department of Agriculture and Inspection, spoke on economic poisons.

Ex-GI Protests Discharge Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former soldier, who was given an undesirable discharge after he invoked the Fifth Amendment in a loyalty questionnaire, filed suit Wednesday for an honorable discharge.

Charles H. Marshall of Los Angeles said one of the allegations against him was that his father, attorney Daniel G. Marshall, helped get a stay of execution for atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

Another allegation against him, he said, was that his mother was active in Communist functions.

The ex-GI contended the Army proceedings against him violated his constitutional guarantees. He said no evidence was produced tending to prove he was a security risk.

The complaint, filed in U.S. District Court, said Marshall was inducted into the Army Aug. 12, 1953, and was given an undesirable discharge early this year.

Two Men Escape Injury As Plane Is Forced Down

LITCHFIELD, Neb. (AP)—A private plane piloted by Lt. Tadd D. Hammond of Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, made a forced landing on the Edgar Banker farm a mile north of Litchfield.

Neither Hammond, nor his passenger, Master Sergeant Garland, also from Offutt, was injured, but the landing gear and propeller of the plane were badly damaged.

Banker said the two men came to his place after the crash and he took them to Grand Island where they caught a train.

Sherman County Sheriff Earl Hancock said the terrain where the plane came down was very rugged. Residents of Litchfield had heard the plane flying low over the town. Icing conditions were blamed for the accident.

Accused Plane Saboteur's Loyal Wife Tells Of Fateful Night

DENVER (INS) — The pale and worried wife of accused saboteur Gilbert Graham rallied to her husband's defense Wednesday to charges he dynamited a plane carrying his own mother.

Gloria Graham, 22-year-old mother of two young tots listed several reasons for doubting that her husband "Jack" sabotaged a United Air Lines plane that crashed near Longmont, Colo., carrying 44 persons to death.

Mrs. Graham said her mother-in-law, Mrs. Daisy King, herself asked that $37,500 insurance be taken out on her life while they waited for the aircraft to take off.

Says Mother Signed

Furthermore, she said, Mrs. King signed three policies which Graham got from an insurance vending machine and listed three different beneficiaries.

(Information released by the FBI said Graham was the only beneficiary).

Mrs. Graham said both she and her husband asked Mrs. King to delay her trip to Alaska until after Thanksgiving.

After hearing the plane had been sabotaged, she said Graham told her: "Anybody that would do a thing like that would have to be completely out of his mind."

Got Along Beautifully

Graham reportedly planned the death of Mrs. King in order to collect the $37,500 insurance and share in her $150,000 estate. But Mrs. Graham declared that her husband got along "beautifully" with his mother "for the past few months."

Mrs. Graham said her husband planned to put a "surprise Christmas gift", a drill kit for making shell jewelry, in his mother's luggage.

The trip to the airport the evening of the crash on Nov. 1, was also described by the distraught wife. She said she and Mrs. King went to a counter to verify the airline ticket while Graham followed with her luggage.

Beneficiaries

Mrs. King then asked Graham to get insurance listing herself, as a beneficiary, his sister, Mrs. Helen Hablutzel of Spenard, Alaska, and her own sister, Mrs. Helen Smith of St. Genevieve, Mo.

Mrs. Graham said she helped her husband fill out the insurance applications and then Mrs. King signed all three.

The insurance company from whom the policy was purchased reported it was not signed by Mrs. King, therefore invalid).

Mrs. Graham's only comment on her husband's admission of placing 25 sticks of dynamite in his mother's luggage was "It doesn't seem possible."

She declared: "I'm not going to believe a thing until I see Jack. I still love him and I'm right behind him."

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Film beauty Arlene Dahl has recovered completely from her recent illness and is preparing to leave Hollywood for movie making in Rome.

The red-haired actress, who recently underwent treatment for anemia, said she will leave the film colony this weekend.

MRS. GENE HILL, Denver, Colo., says: "I have faith in St. Joseph Aspirin For Children. No need to cut tablets. I'm sure of giving dosage as doctor orders."

Tapia Guilty Of Arson

Penitentiary Inmate Raymond L. Tapia Wednesday was found guilty by a Lancaster District Court jury on a second-degree arson charge resulting from the Aug. 16 prison fire and riot.

The jury deliberated an hour and a half in reaching its verdict after receiving the case just before noon. Tapia showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

Judge Paul White deferred sentencing proceedings during the 10-day period in which the defendant can ask for a new trial.

In closing arguments to the jury, Co. Atty. Elmer Scheele said "somebody has got to let the inmates know who's running the institution."

Among Plotters

The state's evidence was summarized as showing that Tapia was among the plotters in the incident, had been a leader in the sitdown strike in the mess hall leading to the riot and fire, and was identified as one of the inmates entering and leaving the carpenter's shop just before smoke billowed by the building.

Defense Atty. Paul Douglas contended the state was "trying to prove guilt by association."

"We didn't think the county attorney has proved beyond a reasonable doubt that Mr. Tapia had anything to do with (starting the fire)."

Tapia, a 23-year-old inmate from Denver, Colo., did not take the witness stand in his own defense.

Dep. Co. Atty. Dale Fahrnbruch asserted the state "has showed the defendant helped cause the buildings to be burned."

("Caused . . . to be burned" are the words used on the arson information against Tapia.)

Tapia is the second inmate convicted by jury of arson in the incident. Last month, Inmate Gilbert Sagaser was convicted and sentenced to nine years on the same charge.

Six other inmates are awaiting trial while nine others have been sentenced and two await sentence.

State Moves To Prosecute Graham Soon

DENVER (INS)—District Attorney Bert M. Keating moved swiftly Wednesday in his murder prosecution against 23-year-old admitted saboteur John Gilbert Graham.

Keating endorsed 16 witnesses whom he hopes will convince a jury the youth planted a time-bomb aboard a United Airlines plane causing the death of 44 persons, including his own heavily-insured mother.

Graham, who admitted to the Federal Bureau of Investigation that he planted 25 sticks of dynamite on the plane, will plead Thursday before Denver District Judge Edward J. Keating, no relation of the district attorney.

Judge Keating will set a trial date for the suspect, and if the plea is not guilty by reason of insanity, order Graham committed to Colorado Psychopathic Hospital for a 30-day observation.

There is no bond allowed in a Colorado murder case, but Graham is already held in lieu of $100,000 bond imposed on a federal charge of sabotage.

Although the bomb killed 44 persons, Graham is charged specifically with the death of his well-to-do mother, Mrs. Daisy E. King, 55. He is accused of having her insured for $37,500 before putting her aboard the death plane. He also stood a chance of sharing in her $150,000 estate.

Hearing Starts On Minimum CarrierCharges

Hearing opened before the State Railway Commission Wednesday on the request of the Nebraska Motor Carriers' Assn. for an upward adjustment of minimum charges.

The present absolute minimum charge for an intra-state shipment of any size is $1.38.

The Association proposes to increase this to $1.50 for a 50-mile haul and $3 for distances in excess of 50 miles.

Where two or more carriers are incolved, the minimum would be $3 regardless of weight or distance.

The opening witness was Paul Halpine, secretary of the carriers' association, who laid the groundwork for testimony to follow by submitting statistics on the amount of freight handled by the carriers.

The request was opposed by the Lincoln and Beatrice Chambers of Commerce, Midwest Farm Equipment Dealers, and individual shippers, including Dutton-Lainson, Hastings, and Dempster Manufacturing Co., Beatrice.

The hearing was expected to last at least two days.

8 Initiated Into Beta Gamma Sig

Beta Gamma Sigma, national honorary scholastic society in business administration, initiated eight University of Nebraska seniors as new members Wednesday.

Those initiated were: Gerald L. Igou, Lincoln; Arlen J. Kuklin, Omaha; David N. McCammon, Lincoln; Gerald G. Menefee, Lexington; Patricia A. Morgan, Orleans; Rexford K. Paul, Lincoln; Ralph R. Retzlaff, Lincoln; and Frederick J. Saathoff, Bloomington.

Stanley A. Matzke of Hastings, executive of the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District, spoke at the initiation banquet. Robert Hawke of Lincoln, vice president of the society, was toastmaster.
